Citizen Study of Reservoir Recreation Under Way

Members of the citizens' committee studying the possible recreational uses of the East Bay Municipal Utility District's terminal reservoirs will meet again after they have discussed the matter with the local groups they represent.

This was decided at the committee's initial introductory meeting in Oakland Wednesday. The members heard readings of the various committee reports which have recommended that the reservoirs be opened for fishing, boating and picnicking.

ABOUT HALF of the 40 members of the citizens' group are officials and civic organization representatives from Contra Costa County. The other members are from Alameda County.

Copies of all of the previous reports — including one submitted by EBMUD's executive steering committee—will be sent to the group's members immediately, and these committee members will then discuss the studies with local groups.

No date was set for the next meeting, but it was agreed that because of the holiday season, it would not be held until some time after January 1.

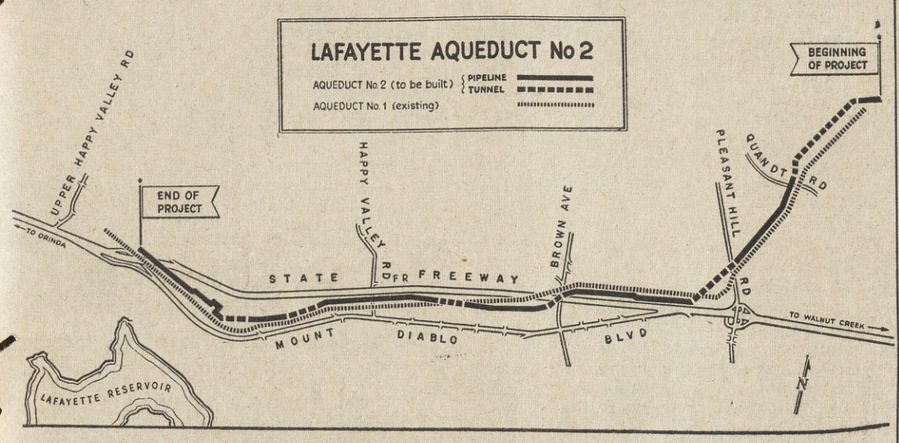
DURING the 2½-hour meeting, the committee was told that recent state law permits recreational uses of drinking water supply reservoirs as long as there is no human contact with the water.

If the new citizens' committee recommends such uses for the reservoir areas and the utility district votes against the recommendation, a vote of the district's residents can force the opening of the reservoirs.

According to Duane Mattison, county parks director and a member of the committee, one of the requirements for such an election—if it becomes necessary—has already been met by Contra Costa County.

THE COUNTY Board of Supervisors, he recalled, has requested that a study be made of the possibility of recreational use of San Pablo Dam.

Contra Costa officials are also in the process of negotiating with EBMUD for the acquisition of available district lands for recreational purposes in the county.



A $5 MILLION contract has been awarded for construction of the East Bay Municipal UtilityDistrict' s Lafayette Aqueduct No. 2, which will connect with the Lafayette-Orinda Tunnel now under construction (connection will be made at left of map.) Construction on the new aqueduct will begin this month at the eastern, or Walnut Creek, end of the project.

EDMUD Awards Contract For Lafayette Aqueduct

Construction of Lafayette Aqueduct No. 2, a major link in the East Bay Municipal Utility District's 88-mile "Giant M" water pipeline system, will start this month, according to Joseph D. DeCosta, EBMUD chief engineer.

The contract has been awarded to the lowest bidder, American Pipe and Construction Company of Hayward, for $5,293,412. Target date for completion of the job is December, 1962.

LAFAYETTE Aqueduct No. 2, nine feet in diameter, will connect with the "Giant M" Aqueduct west of Larkey Lane in Walnut Creek and extend four miles to the east portal of Lafayette Tunnel No. 2 near Sunnybrook Drive in Lafayette. Included in the contract are six tunnels with a total length of 1.2 miles.

The big pipeline will be constructed in EBMUD's 100-foot right-of-way parallel to Lafayette Aqueduct No. 1, the connecting link for the existing twin Mokelumne Aqueduct system.

The "Giant M" aqueduct system is designed to supply the East Bay with an additional 181-million gallons of pure Mokelumne River water daily. The present twin aqueduct system can supply 157-million gallons a day. Their combined capacity, 338 M.G.D., is expected to take care of the area's water needs to the year 2000.

THE "GIANT M" system is the heart and core of EBMUD's $283-million water development program to be completed in 1967. It is being financed primarily through the $252-million bond issue authorized by the voters in June, 1958.

Two tunnels will carry Lafayette Aqueduct No. 2 from Walnut Creek across Acalanes Valley to a point north of the freeway near Hodges Road, Lafayette. The pipeline will cross the freeway via a tunnel at Brown Avenue and continue for three miles along the right-of-way north of Mt. Diablo Boulevard to the Lafayette interchange near Pine Lane. There it will go under the freeway overpass and connect with Lafayette Tunnel No. 2. There will be road crossing tunnels at Oak Hill Road, Dolores Drive and Burton Road.

DeCosta noted that at no point does the project run along any street, although there are a few points at which trenching operations will cross streets between the freeway and Mt. Diablo Boulevard. These operations will be accomplished quickly he said, with little or no inconvenience to vehicular traffic.

Membership in the organization is limited to the outstanding students of the school, selected on the basis of high achievement and good citizenship.

Charlotte Kimball, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Kimball, 19 Owl Hill Road, a Miramonte senior, has been given the Good Citizen award for 1960-61 by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Selected for the qualities of dependability, service, leadership and patriotism, Charlotte will receive a certificate of award and be eligible for competition for a national award.

Headon Collision Kills WC Woman

Mrs. William (Shirley) Riseling of 2043 Hermine Avenue was killed last weekend in an auto accident at the east portal of the Caldecott Tunnel.

According to highway patrol officers, death came to Mrs. Riseling when her sports convertible jumped the center dividers as the car emerged from the tunnel and crashed head-on into a car driven by John Armanino of Oakland.

Mrs. Riseling's son, Curt, 3, was also injured in the accident.

Committee Selected for Man of the Year Award

The committee for the selection of Orinda's 1960 Man of the Year was named this week, and the public has been asked to help select the person for this award.

Bruce Howard will serve as chairman of the committee, and he will be assisted by Mrs. Paul Pollaczek, last year's winner, and Mrs. Russell Gilwee.

HOWARD is former president of the Contra Costa Taxpayers' Association and is completing a year as vice president of the Orinda Association. Mrs. Gilwee is a member of the board of trustees of the Orinda Union School District.

Once again The Sun is sponsoring the Man of the Year award, and the committee has been asked to select the person deemed to have contributed the most to the welfare of the community during 1960; past years' activities will be considered also.

Suggestions may be sent to Man of the Year Committee, P. O. Box 147, Orinda.

YOUR RECOMMENDATIONS will be turned over to the committee. Although the award is sponsored by The Sun, selection of the person is entirely up to the committee.

Bear Creek Road Will Be Closed Starting Monday

Construction of Briones Dam and Reservoir north of Orinda, scheduled to start next week, will necessitate the permanent closing of a portion of Bear Creek Road on Monday.

Joseph D. DeCosta, chief engineer for the East Bay Municipal Utility District, said the portion closed will be between San Pablo Dam Road and Hampton Park Road. The closing has been authorized by the County Board of Supervisors.

BRIONES, A 270-foot-high earthfill dam costing $13,888,000, will straddle Bear Creek Road at a point 1.3 miles from San Pablo Dam Road. The dam, to be completed in 1964, will hold back 22-billion gallons of water.

It will be EBMUD's largest terminal reservoir and is intended primarily to serve the Orinda - Lafayette - Walnut Creek - San Ramon Valley area.

Contractor for the job is Guy F. Atkinson Company of South San Francisco. The firm's heavy equipment already is moving in to the area.

DECOSTA emphasized that despite the road closing it will still be possible to traverse Briones Valley via Hampton Park Road on the north, the still-open portion of Bear Creek Road and Upper Happy Valley Road on the south.

The main effect of the closing will be to prevent access to and egress from the valley from San Pablo Dam Road.

Barricades will be erected, and signs anouncing the road closing and indicating the alternate route will be posted at strategic intersections, said DeCosta.

Orinda Pioneer Lady Dies at 75

Delight Woodbury de Laveaga, a member of one of Orinda's pioneer families died Monday at Bien Venida, her Orinda home. She had lived there more than 50 years.

A native of Oakland, Mrs. de Laveaga moved to Orinda when she married the late Edward I. de Laveaga, a son of Miguel A. de Laveaga, who at one time owned more than 3,000 acres in the area, which Edward began developing in the '20's.

HE BUILT the Orinda Country Club and golf course and scores of homes in the area.

Mrs. de Laveaga, who died at 75, was a member of the San Francisco Century Club and of the Oakland Canterbury Club. She was active throughout her adult life in civic, charitable and church activities in the Bay Area.

She was the first president of the first Parents Club of the first Orinda School. She was a member of Santa Maria Catholic Church which was a gift to the community from the de Laveaga family many years ago.

THE ROSARY was recited Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Chapel of the Oaks, Oakland. A requiem mass was said Wednesday at the Santa Maria Catholic Church, Orinda.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Lucia Ward of Orinda and Mrs. Julie Tobin of San Rafael; three sons, Miguel of Bakersfield, Richard of Walnut Creek and Edward of Orinda. She also leaves ten grandchildren.

Ballerina Comes Home...

By LARRY GLAZIER

When the California Ballet Company appears on the stage of Miramonte High School Sunday afternoon, at least one featured dancer in the group really will feel at home.

That will be Betsy Erickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erickson of 31 Donna Maria Way, a junior honor student at Miramonte. At 16, Betsy is the youngest member of the company, for which she was selected last August.

THE BALLET group, under the leadership of Raoul Pause, will present "Beauty and the Beast" and "La Boutique Fantasque" at the high school at 2:30 p.m. in a single performance.

Young Miss Erickson, who has been studying ballet since she was three years old and has been performing since she was nine, will appear in difficult roles in both productions.

In "Beauty and the Beast," she will appear as a "fake figure" and as one of the persons of the wedding party in the finale. Betsy will be seen as the "Queen of Spades" in "La Boutique Fantasque."

MISS ERICKSON is one of only 24 dancers in the traveling troupe of the company and she is listed as one of the 10 featured performers, along with Robert Morrow, Geraldine Uhlig, Marc Wilde, Grace Doty, Cathi Sim, Mel Wong, Caryl Miler, Robert deVee and John Jennings.

Despite the arduous practicing which must go into the making of a star ballerina, Betsy has managed to keep up her California Scholastic Federation rating at Miramonte. She sometimes spends 18 hours on weekends in her art and almost always practices for three hours each day.

Her mother said Betsy has been "dancing since she first learned to walk" and is very dedicated to the ballet. According to Mrs. Erickson, Betsy would like to continue her professional work as a ballerina.

"BUT AT present, we don't allow the dancing to interfere with her schooling," Mrs. Erickson said. "We only allow her to travel with the company on weekends or during school holidays."

Sunday's performance here will mark the first local appearance of a major ballet company headed by a star-studded potpourri of ballerinas and danseurs.

Pause's choreography for "Beauty and the Beast" has been created for two acts and 12 scenes to the impressionistic music of Frederick Delius. Marc Wilde will be seen in the part of the "Beast" who becomes a prince when redeemed by the love of "Beauty," portrayed by Geraldine Uhlig.

In "La Boutique Fantasque," the captivating theme of endowing dolls with human characteristics has delighted world audiences since 1919, when it was first performed in London.

Robert Morrow will be seen in the part of the "Can-Can Dancer" in "La Boutique Fantasque." Morrow, who has just recently arrived after a season with the Royal Netherlands Ballet Company, has been the partner of the world-famous ballerina, Mia Slavenska.

He began his career on Broadway as featured soloist in "Song of Norway," "Paint Your Wagon," "Bloomer Girl" and "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn."

MORE THAN 11 hours of rehearsal were required to produce one minute of dance for viewing. The company recently returned from a successful holiday tour, where critics described it as ". . . the most superb young dance group to have been seen in many seasons."

Tickets for the Miramonte production will be available at the high school on the day of the performance. The Miramonte Parents Club is sponsoring the event.

TALL, BLONDE Miramonte junior Betsy Erickson will be one of the featured dancers with the California Ballet Company when it appears at Miramonte High School Sunday in "Beauty and the Beast" and "La Boutique Fantasque." Betsy, at 16, is the youngest member of the 24-dancer company, which is led by Raoul Pause. The program will be shown at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Look Inside Sun for New Goodies In 'Suburbia'

Distinguished novelist Shirley Jackson gives a hilarious account of writing a play for her "bad" children and their friends, to lead off the gaily decorated December issue of SUBURBIA TODAY, which comes to you in The Sun today.

In "The Jet Age," columnist Art Buchwald — a very funny man—tells what it's like to travel in the economy section of a 707 jet with three active children going along for the ride.

THEN THERE'S a tribute to women as bridge players, by Helen Sobel, the world's leading member of that clan—and Mrs. Sobel goes through three typical hands to prove her point.

Once a year, everyone in Altadena, California, pitches in to transform their town into a living Christmas card—pictured in this issue, the Christmas Tree Lane of deodars, the Lamplighters' ceremony, and unexpected snowdrifts among the geraniums.

In "Memories With Evelyn Grace," Irene Scott remembers the good times she had with her first dolly, a battered wooden specimen that linked the love of three generations.

SUBURBIA TODAY'S news column, "Getting Around," pokes around to a grandmothers' bowling league, an exclusive drive-in theatre, and a most extraordinary barber shop; while in "Suburbia—Any Day!" our cartoonists take after the ladies again (all cartoonists seem to be men).

Finally, the food pages have a double surprise this month. First, there are the delicious easy-to-prepare, kitchen-tested holiday goodies—Ischl Cookies, Panettone, Christmas Conserve, Honey Fruitcake and Toffee. Along with these recipes are suggestions for wrapping them in fancy glasses and jars and baskets for Christmas giving.

Broken Water Main Floods Glorietta Blvd.

A broken 12 inch water main on Glorietta Boulevard, between Rheem and Moraga Boulevards flooded the area the day before Thanksgiving and collapsed a 400 foot section of Glorietta Boulevard.

An emergency repair crew fixed the broken main promptly, but in the confusion some one forgot to turn the shut-off valve back on.

Early risers on Thanksgiving morn discovered they still had no water. An embarrassed East Bay Utility District Supervisor remedied the situation with dispatch . . . in time for both bathing and feasting preparations.

Association Officials Schedule Count Dec. 12

Directors of the Orinda Association have urged association members to return to their election ballots early, so that the determination of the results can be made on schedule.

President Victor Kingston appointed a committee of six persons Monday night to count the ballots at 8 p.m. December 12 in the Orinda School. The ballots wil select five new directors for the association.

Members of the committee which will handle the ballot-counting chores will be Neill Porter, Phillip Mittel, Bruce Howard, Charles Dana, John Kessler and Mrs. Robert Haslam.

ACCORDING to the by-laws of the association, the ballots must be postmarked no later than December 8, which is Thursday. This would give the mailed votes sufficient time to arrive in the hands of the association before the counting begins.

The new directors will assume their posts at the next meeting of the association board, scheduled for Wednesday, December 28, at the Orinda Community Church. The date was changed from the normal fourth Monday of the month because of the Christmas holiday.

Kingston suggested that the Bear Creek Road relocation question, still unresolved by the County Board of Supervisors, be continued for consideration by the new association board when it meets.

THE CANDIDATES for this year's election and the directors they are seeking to succeed are as follows:

Connie Hall — Michael Ball, 2 Spring Court and David Edwards, 34 Bates Boulevard; President Victor Kingston — Arnold O. Anderson, 305 Overhill Road, and George A. Talbot, 52 Hillcrest Road; Phillip Mittel — Paul J. Fanning, 160 Hall Drive, and Michael E. Dakis, 236 Orchard Road; Les Hink, Jr. — Andrew Hartanov, 155 Camino Don Miguel, and Eric Nielsen, 224 Camino Sobrante, and Saenger — Gary Nikolai, 28 Dolores Way, and James Keating, 5 Albo Court.

El Toyonal Residents Ask Nielsen for Help

Residents of the El Toyonal area have urged Chairman Mel F. Nielsen of the County Board of Supervisors to "exert whatever influence and persuasion" he has to help them get El Toyonal improved.

In a letter, the residents, who have formed a citizens' committee for the road improvement, asked that the County Public Works Department "actively pursue this project now and in the future."

Here is a copy of the letter which was sent to Nielsen.

AS YOU MAY know, in the last few months residents of the El Toyonal area in Orinda have been attempting to secure the improvement of El Toyonal Road.

Following a well-attended public meeting with representatives of the County Department of Public Works in August, a citizens' committee was formed. Subsequently, the department of public works informally indicated agreement with the need for such improvement and an intention to proceed with such work as funds were available from appropriate budgets.

At the invitation of the department of public works, members of the citizens' committee late in Ocober examined on the site with representatives of the county the full length of El Toyonal and portions of Loma Vista Drive noting hazardous areas and their possible solution.

AT THE conclusion of such meeting, the county representatives agreed to start work immediately on three troublesome spots, and to commence work on other locations thereafter as soon as funds were available.

Neither the county nor the citizens' committee wants to widen El Toyonal into a high-speed road. No four-lane freeway is contemplated or even the addition to the paving of a uniform strip a few feet wide.

By reason of the terrain, any substantial widening project would be prohibitive. There is agreement on the need for spot improvement — modest projects that can be taken a few at a time which will seek to eliminate the more severe road hazards. On this basis, funds apparently can be made available from time to time.

I DON'T know how often you have had occasion to drive on El Toyonal but if you have, you have undoubtedly found it to be steep, extremely narrow, containing many sharp curves (often blind) and virtually without shoulders.

Unfortunately, it is heavily traveled, being the only access road to a large area (along with parallel Loma Vista in its lower region). In short, the road is a serious hazard and it is a disgrace that the problem has not heretofore been challenged.

Although many minor accidents have arisen, we hope real progress will be made before a more serious accident weighs upon our collective consicence.

It was noted that one of the contributing factors to the hazard is the growh of shrubbery on the couny right of way from private property along the sides of the road.

TO THIS END, the citizens who are actively sponsoring the road improvement will endeavor to obtain the cooperation of the home owners to trim back such growth. In fact, the residents of this area want to do everything they can to assist and cooperate with the couny.

This area falls within the boundaries of the Hacienda Improvement Association, the largest and oldest of its kind in Orinda. While at the present, that association has not taken any formal action in connection with this project, it's anticipated that it will actively support the project and may even serve as the coordinating organization on behalf of the local residents.

This aspect will be taken up by the executive board of that association shortly. In any event, it appears clear that a substantial majority of the residents involved very whole-heartedly support this much needed road improvement.

WE FEEL that the expressed intentions of the representatives of the department of public works constitutes a good start toward this project. We hope we are realistic in our expectations; we do not ask for the impossible.

We do ask of you, however, if you believe in the value and necessity of this work, that you exert whatever influence and persuasion that you have upon the department of public works to see that they actively pursue this project now and in the future and, additionally, assist in providing sufficient funds so that the department can perform such work.

Adoption Problem: More Children for Fewer Homes; Report Has Histories

More and more children are being offered for adoption by Contra Costa parents who already have other children. And there are fewer requests to adopt from eligible families.

This is one of the problems presented in the five-year report of Relinquishment Adoptions, prepared by Miss Murial Nelson, County Social Service Department adoption supervisor.

Miss Nelson's 12 page report, as she explains, is limited to "relinquishment" of children by natural parents, their placement, appropriate statistics, ". . . with little reference to the quality of service except as numbers reflect it."

BUT HER report gains color with characterizations of relinquished children who have proved hard to place, also some which have little chance of being adopted, and others which have better chances.

Means by which the added supply of "surplus" children are actually placed in homes, despite the fact that fewer homes are available, are described.

One method is a "tightening or loosening" of requirements which families wanting to adopt must meet. Now, even families "with obvious problems" have a good gro, but the number and proportion is smaller than five years ago.

Six children among these are physically handicapped. Five years ago, there were no physically handicapped children relinquished by parents and waiting over six months.

Even with "highly-placeable" children, girls are preferred over boys by adoptive parents. As a result, more boys awaiting adoption are "delayed" than girls.

At the present time, more Protestant children than Catholic are awaiting. The Protestant factor is increased by the negro boys and girls.

HOWEVER, the report states, more trouble is involved in keeping a supply of homes approved for normal Catholic infants than for Protestants.

The group of boys and girls waiting for adoption has more in the older groups, including four boys who have been waiting since 1955. Three of them are negro.

The report describes a few cases of boys and girls who have been waiting at the adoption home for a long time, as follows:

"1. Donald, age 16, is the one child in his large family relinquished for adoption. This was in 1952.

"TWO ADOPTIVE placements have been tried, and he was unable to accept the closeness or to respond to the families' expectations.

"Since the second, we have not tried to find an adoptive home for him, for his problems seem ingrained beyond recovery.

"2. Sue, age 5, is mentally deficient, and requires institutional care for the rest of her life.

"3. Sally, age 12, is white and Catholic. She was relinquished with her three younger siblings in 1956.

"THE OTHERS have been placed for adoption, but plans have failed for Sally.

"We have never been able to find her a ready-made adoptive home.

"Foster homes have been numerous, and one appeared to offer some adoptive prospect, but her problems overwhelmed the family.

"Foster children are like all children. Sometimes they're good, sometimes they're mischievous."

He added, "They are alike in that they can't live with their own parents. Some parents are physically ill, some are mentally ill, some are unable to face the problems of their lives, are unable to care properly for their children."

THESE monthly meetings are sponsored by the Social Action Committee of the Central Contra Costa Council of Churches.

Rev. Walter Bishop of Orinda is chairman.

Further information concerning this and future meetings may be secured from Mrs. Henry Rae or Mrs. Robert Love of Lafayette.

Lowdown on Foster Homes Is Offering, Wednesday

Information about the county's foster home program will be given next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Pacific Gas and Electric Company building on Bonanza Street, Walnut Creek.

Donald Morrison of Lafayette, assistant county probation officer, said subjects will include foster home study, licensing and financial arrangements.

Other panel speakers will include Mrs. Beverly Williams of Walnut Creek, licensing worker for the Social Service Department; Lawrence Coleman, placement officer, and several foster parents.

MORRISON said there are more than 300 foster homes licensed in Contra Costa County by the Social Service Department.

The total number of homes licensed has not shown an increase, but the number of children needing a foster home has greatly increased.

There are some 40 children at the Juvenile Hall in Martinez awaiting placement in homes at this time.

Thirty are from 12 to 18 years of age. The remaining group is from 8 to 12.

THERE IS ALSO a group of younger children in shelter homes also awaiting placement.

Morrison continued, "Foster children are everybody's children. Everybody needs to understand his responsibility for seeing that they get the very best that the community has to offer in foster homes, schooling, friendliness, understanding and help, not just from the foster home, but from the whole community.

Adoption People Worry About 'Disappointed'

The Contra Costa Citizens Advisory Committee on Adoptions met November 17 in the County Administration Building in Martinez.

Discussed were relationships between the agency and the adoptive applicant.

Methods were suggested for interpreting and explaining decisions to applicants who cannot be served.

One proposed method was that an invitation be extended to the disappointed family to discuss the situation further in the offices of the agency.

Program plans were made for the coming year. It was agreed that all members will analyze copies of the agency's five-year report on Relinquishment Adoptions preliminary to discussion at the Committee's January meeting.

A $750,000 vote of confidence for the ACALANES HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT

As a resident within the Acalanes Union High School District you voted to let the District issue school bonds. This was your vote of confidence in the area the District serves.

Bank of America and its associated investment dealers demonstrated the same confidence in buying the bonds—giving the District the money it needs for improved educational facilities.

Interest rates on the bonds were decided by competitive bidding—a procedure required by law to obtain the lowest average interest rate for the taxpayer under current bond market conditions. Interest rates also reflect the credit rating of your District.

We, at Bank of America, bid on nearly all municipal bonds issued in the State. We're particularly proud to play a key role in the development of the Acalanes Union High School District.

One thing that gives us confidence is that you and your neighbors wisely recognize the demonstrated truth: good schools benefit all citizens — those with and without children alike. The quality of a community parallels the quality of its schools. This is reflected in property values through the years.

You may be interested in buying Acalanes Union High School District Bonds as a personal investment. They offer the advantage of tax exempt income and are available in denominations of $1,000. Constables Will Get Pay Raise

A new base salary scale for Contra Costa County's 13 constables was adopted Friday by the board of supervisors. County Administrator J. P. McBrien advanced the schedule approved by the supervisors without recommendation.

The schedule was five per cent above the schedule McBrien had previously recommended.

Beginning January 2, constables will begin turning in to the treasurer all fees and mileage paid them for serving legal papers. The supervisors promised a resurvey of all 13 jobs with possible additional increases for those constables who act as police officers in addition to their work as process servers.

The re-evaluation was promised after Danville and Oakley constables threatened to resign if their pay was not boosted to $7008 a year. Pending re-evaluation, Allen Rhodes of Danville will get $6360 and Ray Johnson of Oakley $5772. Both are now paid $4860, plus fees, mileage and a car allowance.

Mailed Jury Summons Gets Trial Period

For a six-month trial period beginning Jan. 1 Contra Costa County jury summonses will be sent by registered mail at a savings of about 2,000 man-hours a year in the services of sheriff's deputies.

At a cost of about $13,000, including nearly $4,000 for second and third trips when recipients were not at home, only 8,500 jury summonses were served in person by sheriff's deputies last year, he said. About 11,000 separate attempts were necessary to serve all the jury papers.

Questionnaires to determine if prospective jurors are qualified, also to be included in the certified mailings, was another of his recommendations.

Currently using the mailing system are a number of California counties, including Alameda, Marin, Los Angeles and San Diego.

Lindsey estimated costs for more than 10,000 summonses and questionnaires for a year at about $2800 in postage and $700 in telephone calls to some 3500 persons actually called to serve on juries.

Buchanan's Phone Call on Weights And Measures Prompts Seeley Letter

On County Supervisor Warren G. Buchanan's suggestion, supervisors' discussion will be delayed until after January 3 concerning accusations by County Agricultural Commissioner Arthur Seeley that Buchanan has sought relaxation of county weights and meahures inspections.

Seeley sent a letter to several county departments, alleging that Buchanan called him by phone opposing enforcement of a provision of state law requiring that containers carry labels stating their net contents.

Seeley said the deputies had ordered 52 packages of steel, wook, lubricant, solder, joint tape and jewelers rouge off sale until properly labeled in the Service Hardware Store, Pittsburg.

THE STORE is operated by Mrs. Buchanan's sister's husband, Edward N. Parent of 45 East Fifth Street, Pittsburg, Seeley said.

Board of Supervisors Chairman Mel Nielsen ordered the matter dropped from discussion this week, after Seeley's letter was read publicly, and Buchanan replied, requesting postponement of discussion.

Buchanan said he did call Seeley and that he had a witness to the conversations, since Parent was listening on a telephone extension.

Buchanan, however, added that he was concerned about the effect of the weights and measures inspections on all small retailers.

HE ADDED he believes in enforcement of weights and measures, but felt that enforcement should be at the manufacturing or distribution level rather than in retail stores.

Seeley said, while his office inspects both manufacturers and distributors in this county, that of the 52 items ordered off sale in the Pittsburg store, none were manufactured in this county, 19 were manufactured elsewhere were handled by a local distributor.

He said he has inspected 911,116 containers for short weight, overweight and improper labels since January 1.

Of these 24,894 were ordered of sale or short weight, 976 for overweight and 5814 for improper labels, Seeley said.

He and the State Department of Agriculture and other county sealers of weights and measures cooperate in seeking nationwide enforcement of weights and measures laws, Seeley said.

Enforcement at the retail level is effective and a faster and better protection to the consumer, he added.

Orinda Village Shops Are Here!

Orinda bids official welcome this week to its newest shopping center—the modern Orinda Village Shops, located next to the Safeway store on Orinda Way.

The five new stores which will be celebrating their grand openings tomorrow through Saturday include Virginia Hammond, Hal Matson Photographers, Orinda Liquors, Talk of the Town beauty salon and Orinda Village Barber Shop.

THE MODERN, natural wood decor of the shops' exterior has been carried through to the interior design of the spacious business establishments.

Virginia Hammond, now in its 15th year as a leading women's apparel store in Orinda, recently moved its location from the Crossroads area to the new center. The new store is twice as large as the old one, thus providing more convenience for shoppers.

Owner of the shop, which bears her name, is Mrs. Jack Snow, whose husband is the owner and developer of the new shopping center.

THE STORE is equipped with the latest built-in fixtures and specializes in many of the top brand names in ladies' sportswear and dresses.

In order to better serve his long-standing customers "east of the tunnel," Hal Matson has opened his first branch studio in the new Orinda Village Shops. The main studio is located in downtown Oakland.

Manager of the local studio is Cliff Barbera, who has been photographing since he was eight years old. Barbera, who served as a combat photographer during World War II, has been with Matson for five years.

THE ORINDA LIQUORS store is another of the joint ventures of Steve Bertone and H. D. Bones, who operate similar stores in Martinez, Richmond and El Cerrito. Bertone was in charge of the liquor department for P&X Stores for several years.

A wine cooler for champagnes, unique in this area, is one of the features of the new store.

Talk of the Town is the second local beauty salon owned by Bill McElhinny. The other location is Bill's Beauty Studio, 19 Orinda Way. Four hairdressers will be on hand at the new salon for the convenience of local women.

THESE ARE the new Orinda Village Shops, which will celebrate their grand openings this weekend. The new shopping center is located near the Safeway store and includes Virginia Hammond, Orinda Liquors, Hal Matson Photography, Talk of the Town beauty salon and a barber shop.

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

By MARIE MONAHAN

Cold Turkey

Over in Sleepy Hollow, a stork sign on the lawn at the Owen Owens' (Richmond Independent) announces the arrival of a new son w/a p.s. to the prolific Schnuggs—"Watch Out, Schnuggs, Here We Come!"

Hazel & Tom Wilcox went down to her Imports shop to deck the walls for Christmas, found it just "too much." The bright-as-a-bauble boutique looked gay enough, what w/swaths of silks & Mexican, Norwegian & Danish sweaters piled up all over the place.

LATE FRI. NITE SIGHTEM: The Kopper Kettle folk still up at midnight, sans Santa's helpers, immersed in lights & ladders to add their holiday touch to the local scene.

WHAT WITH Clark Gable's pix at the local flickerhouse recently, David Hupp recalled the time he lunched on the movie lot amidst a host of celebrities (Sophia, Marlon, big direcs, etc.) & the minute Gable entered the place, a quiet hush fell over everybody. Forks & glasses were suspended mid-air until The King was settled at his table.

David (who is studying at college days, working nights at the Radiation Lab) spends his Sundays w/his current lady interest, they study Calculus together. End of Romantic Note.

ORINDA'S OWN Petty Girl, that being Mrs. Matt (Maudie) Hammond, has added her attractive self to the ranks of the local Real Estate ladies. At John Grubb's office in Laf.

The Bill Seiferts & two of their offspring got the full-page treatment in Sunset's Nov. issue—in a full page ad for SUNSET, plugging subscriptions for same. The family VERY Suburbia!

TAMING OF THE MEW . . . To match their Oriental decor, the Richard Paleys of Dolores Way are bringing up a baby Ocelot. A real kitten, cat!

I don't know about you, but the neon Safeway sign w/the flickering arrows still looks like a Las Vegas stray to me . . . On rainy days, we miss the colorful flying paper fish over Cis Sibbett's Village shop . . . & who do we think we are anyhow? Sausalito?

Wishy & Bud Sage have reached the In-Law status . . . Their son Bill being married to Shelley See. The Cute Kids kept it a Big Secret until one eve at home, Papa Sage picked up the phone (w/wife Wishy sitting nrby.) & heard the Operator say "Collect Call for Mr. Sage from Mrs. Sage . . ." Ah, HAH! Secret no secret anymore!

IN THE DIME STORE, much activity on a rainy day . . . mothers buying styro balls, sequins & toothpicks by the tons. All the better to keep the kiddies happy at home on a wet day. SO WHAT if they mess up the joint! Better than mud!

Rowie Loughman w/her million-dollar smile (we've NEVER seen her frown. For that matter, we've never seen ANY of her family look unhappy) dusting, dusting, dusting in between busy clerking moments at her Christmas job . . . Saleslady Maudie Nie elated that her soldier-son John is home from Germany for the holidays.

BROWSING the counters, we dropped a roll of crepe paper but since the ground gets farther away from us all the time, (Guess Why!) we sensed that the lady behind us would retrieve it for us. Which she did. As she came up for air w/the crepe paper in hand, we both burst out laughing. It was Claire Schindler who's having the same trouble we are these days. Can't SEE the tips of her shoes!

A New Version Of An Old Favorite

THE HAPPY SEASON brings to mind (or maybe we shouldn't even mention it) that the younger generation has slightly revised the words to "The Twelve Days Of Christmas."

With the knowledge that Music Teach Robert Luoma will probably go into a dead faint, we must let you in on the changes, just to confuse the song more than ever—

LET'S ALL SING FROM THE 12th Day . . . Twelve Hikers Hiking, Eleven Snipers Sniping, Ten Borgwards Beeping, Nine Fleas Advancing, Eight Crosbys Crooning, Seven Swans A-Sinking, Six A-Bombs, Five Pis—ton Rings . . . (hold that note!)

FOUR COLLIE Dogs, Three French Horns, Two Turtle Shells & A Cartridge In A Pear Tree.

Now everybody forget it. But be sure you learn the original right for the school sing this season or Mr. L. will never forgive us!

THE MERRY SEASON also brings back the memory of the time my daughter bounced in from Kindergarten singing "O Atom Bomb, O Atom Bomb" at the top of her lungs & shocked me right off the sofa.

"Honey," said I, "That's too pretty a song. Sing it right!"

"But THAT'S the way it goes, Mommy . . . we learned it that way," she cried & we realized that in this day & age, how easily the kids could confuse the words. We spent the next hour sitting at the piano w/her playing & singing "O Tannenbaum" the right way. Now every start of the Season, the whole family recalls this story, to me, a rather sad reflection of our Times.

FOR A MOST Beautiful Christmas record, "The Drummer Boy," our favorite.

MORAGA'S JOHN THUNE was honored recently by radio KABL as their citizen of the Day for his "Y" work w/the young people . . . Donna Cavalli, hard-working Del Rey mom, has put the final fancy stitches on a most elegant red velvet suit (HUGE!) for Santa . . . After renting a costume for yrs., the DRP Club decided to have their own—& rent it too. First come, first served!

ORINDA Ballerina, tall blonde Betsy Erickson, will dance the part of the Queen Doll in "La Boutique Fantastique" when the Calif. Ballet Co. bows at the Miramonte Aud. Sun. 2:30 PM . . . Gwynneth Donchin, the Jerome Donchin's dghtr. will also be "on her toes" for the program that also incl. "Beauty & The Beast".

Betsy, by the way, got her first TUTU teachings from Winnie Gilmore, who'll be in the audience applauding proudly.

IF YOU NEED BALLET TKTS., call me, I have some at CL. 4-5729 or call Betty Chilton at CL. 4-3892. Adults $2.00, Children $1.00. A wonderful way to launch the yuletide for Young & Old . . . & it's being sponsored by Miramonte Parents' Club. You can try for tkts. at the door but something's wrong if there isn't SRO for this! Many pro dancers in the group!

THE LARRY RAYMONDS will go to Texas for their holidays—where the turkeys, even Santa, I suppose, are bigger than—

That perennial Orindan Paul Vashell is home from Japan & Hong-Kong. Five memorable weeks spent touring w/Lefty O'Doul & The GIANTS!

The Younger Set: Janice Hazelton had a host of young colleagues in last Sat. night at her Ardith Dr. home for popcorn, peanuts, punch & platters . . . & tomorrow night, the Chris Maggini's young Social Butterfly Elizabeth will celebrate her 11th w/a Luau & So. Seas stuff at the family's Chas. Hill home.

We probably haven't told you anything you didn't know already, but we're trying, we're trying!

You're The Cream In My Coffee

A MOTHER-DAUGHTER DUO teamed up last Fri. to chase the Rainy Day post-Thanksgiving blues away . . . Jean Henderson & her dghtr. Judy (who's home from COP) had bid their friends call at an all-day Open House, but just like the Hungry I, they staggered their sittings & as one group departed, another arrived . . .

When the coffee cake went off, the tea biscuits came on . . . their ambitious undertaking, starting at 10 AM & lasting until SEVEN when the last guest went out the door as dghtr. Judy left on a date.

MORNING coffee in the cozy living room of the Loma Vista house w/the red door, found early guests running in out of the raindrops which got bigger & wetter as the day wore on . . . Jackie Archer & Doris Fraser arriving together . . . The handsome portrait by Doris of Judy framed over the writing desk.

Marty Buchter introducing her attractive niece, Didi Lindley, a Stanford coed . . . Didi is also the niece of Orinda Libbie Ballard (Marty's sister) who is currently in Holland.

THE CREAM IN MY COFFEE . . . Betty Lindsay commenting on the black compote filled w/colorful limes, lemon leaves & oranges . . . Mary Marty Buchter's rainy day plans incl. meeting her architect-husband Jack for a day in Sausalito, Lunch & Boat-shopping . . . Helen Gibbs a stand-out in a burnt apricot wool suit.

TEA OR COFFEE . . . More pre-noon guests incl. Maxine Laney who always reminds us of Greer Garson . . . Em Randall & Myrtle Patterson chatting away . . . Judy's contemporary Pat Jackson, a Criminology major at UC, over from Laf. They've known each other since their pigtail days.

AULD ACQUAINTANCES & some new ones too when the post-lunch guests gathered . . . Here, old friends Alice Udall w/Peggy Cobb . . . Charlotte Chapple bubbling forth . . . Later afternoon, Linda Axelson shedding a raincoat . . . Jane Diguere over from Happy Valley w/her dghtr. Joan . . . Julie Allen w/her junior Julie . . . & Judy Brookes w/her Langley.

A few mother-son teams joining the party . . . Bick Clifford & Tom Miles dropped in as did their mothers, Doris & Lid . . . Vernita Neuhaus over from Miner Rd . . . Intros for Dary Gibbins & her dghtr. Ginnie who is named after her aunt Ginnie Hart, who is Dary's sister. (EVERYBODY'S related around here!)

IT WAS LADIES' DAY at Hendersons . . . w/Elaine Moore (not rain, nor sleet can ever muss her up!) Millie Christia w/Frances Callavan . . . Marian Bignami over from Laf . . . Arlene Hotle . . . Hugs for Jean's friend Janet Langmaid (they've been long-last chums since 2nd grade School Days).

THE LATE WATCH . . . Here, Helene Klement in & out of the elements . . . Suzanne Walker & her parents Bob & Pat Walker of Sleepy Hollow . . . WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE awakened before dawn by a sports car crashing into your yard? That's what happened at the K. G. Morrison home, 1320 Reliez Valley Road, Tuesday morning. The car, which proved to be stolen, was forced off the road by a private patrolman and came to a stop within a few feet of eight-year-old Kevin Morrison's bedroom. —Photo by K. G. Morrison.

Was That Fidel Speaking At the Board Meeting?

Supervisors Mel Nielsen and Thomas Coll not only disagree with each other on the philosophy of airports, they disagree also on Roberts Rules of Order.

Nielsen, who has pledged a vigorous battle against the possible annexation of Buchanan Field to the City of Concord, tangled with Coll between two votes on two resolutions by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

The petition, requesting annexation of the field by Concord, received automatic approval with the expiration of a 20-day period in which the County Boundary Commission failed to act upon it.

THE TWO resolutions before the board of supervisors were: 1.) Authorizing the district attorney to prepare a resolution protesting the annexation and 2.) Asking the Concord City Council to exclude all airport property from any annexation in the area.

The vote on the first resolution was unanimous, and then the fireworks started.

Mouse Whiskers and Rocks Play Big Part in Seminar

One of the primary aims of the Science Seminar at Miramonte High School is the encouragement of individual and group research projects.

Each Wednesday evening the program is divided into two periods, the first is the lecture presented by scientists from the community, the second is an hour of group discussion and work.

Presentation of the work that has been done by each group is now under way to the whole seminar. Wednesday the life sciences group presented their findings on "The Survival Value of Mouse Vibrissae" (whiskers). This group is led by Dr. Oliver Pearson and Dr. Rudolph Grah and includes Lance Chilton, Barry Klopfer, Lynn Loveland, Nancy McKee, Karen Olsen, Jill Taylor, and Pete Parrish.

FIVE hundred meadow and harvest mice were trapped in boxes from the fields of Orinda. They were identified with metal tines clamped to their ears and then the whiskers of ⅓ were clipped on both sides, ⅓ were clipped on one side only, and ⅓ were not clipped at all.

The mice were released and later 150 were recaptured. There was an almost equal percentage of each classification. This leads to the conclusion that the vibrissae of mice have no value in their survival.

Further investigation which might give a clue as to what the whiskers are really for.

EARLIER the earth sciences group, under the leadership of Professor Garness H. Curtis of the University of California, and including Mike Eaton, Barden Wilmar, Dave Wright and Sandy Corbett, presented their studies to the seminar.

This group has been studying decay schemes in the Grizzly Peak and Siesta Valley Formations with a desire to find an absolute age of these Pliocene period formations. The method has been to test specimens of the volcanic outcroppings of these formations, which are found from Orinda west to Berkeley, east to Walnut Creek, north to El Sobrante and south to lake beyond Canyon.

Potassium 40 is known to have a half-life of 1.3 billion years during which time it decays to Argon 40. Thus, by testing specimens of rock containing these minerals they have determined that the age of these formations seems to be between 8.4 and 8.6 million years.

THIS HAS led to further studies because it has been found that in other areas in California and Nevada where similar fossils of early mastadon, camel, peccary or wild pig, beaver and horse have also been found, that the absolute age seems to be between nine and 11 million years, but leaning towards the 11 million age.

A secondary project under study in this group is the attempt to find the source of volcanic materials which were deposited in the shallow lake which once covered this area. It is interesting to know that the hills among which we live are, geologically speaking, of recent origin, only about two million years old.

Executive Committee Will Assist County Fire Commissioners Ass'n

Wendell Parker of Pleasant Hill has been named to represent the Central Fire District on the new executive committee of the County Fire Commissioners Association.

Several appointments have been made, and others for the 19 fire districts will be made probably at the next meeting, December 12.

Other appointments confirmed thus far include the following:

Zack Montgomery for the Orinda Fire District, Joe DeRosa for the Mt. Diablo Fire District, Lloyd Edwards for the Crockett Fire District, Howard Walter for the Mt. View Fire District.

Committee chairmen will also be announced later.

Ralph Becker, Association president and chairman of the executive committee, said the committee has been organized to evaluate problems and present recommendations on them to the general membership.

The Association then can make recommendations to the Board of Supervisors Fire Advisory Committee.

The committee will probably early go into wages and classifications, also fringe benefits for firemen, topics which will be prominent during the 1961 negotiations between firemen and their districts, Becker said.

Other general topics which will get committee status are master planning and fire house location, standardization of equipment and standardization of procedures.

Why Ask McBrien for Any Recommendations at All?

Contra Costa County's 13 constables are going to get a pay raise — and it will be more than was recommended by County Administrator J. P. McBrien.

Obviously some sort of salary adjustment is in order come January 2, because the constables must, after that date, turn all fees collected over to the county.

In the past they have been able to keep such fees, and they generally added up to considerably more than the salary by the time the year was over.

Now, under the new salary schedule, they will receive straight pay, period. In some cases — the larger districts — they will use county cars and be furnished county office space. In other cases they will be paid mileage; 11 cents per mile for the first 500 miles a month and six cents for every additional mile.

BUT THIS, of course, isn't the point. The point is that they will be paid on a schedule five per cent higher than that recommended by the county administrator.

And if you stop to think about it, it really doesn't make much sense. McBrien is an extremely capable man, and an expert in county government organization. He was hired on that basis originally, and did such an outstanding job that he was made county administrator.

FOR HIM to prepare a report, after thorough study, submit it, and then have the board of supervisors increase his recommendations doesn't make too much sense. Frankly, we feel that he knows more about it than the supervisors do.

And how does this affect us, the taxpayers of the county?

Each year the supervisors wrestle with the budget, trimming here, cutting there, trying to keep the tax rate at some sort of reasonable level.

But our taxes still increase.

Here is a prime example of an occasion where they are not being reasonable at all.

ONE OF THE supervisors pointed out that the higher wage scale might cost the county a bit more than at present but that future receipts from fees paid to the county as business increases will offset the costs.

Very true. But why not be practical now and let the additional fees help defray the general cost of government, thus helping to lower the general tax rate?

We are sure that McBrien feels this way, and we agree with him. Especially since he failed to recommend the new schedule adopted by the supervisors.

Your best Christmas buys

We'll Be Happy When...

The Acalanes Union High School District, and the five elementary districts lying within its boundaries, now have $9000 to spend on an unification study.

This money was granted last week by the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisor and we feel that it is money well spent.

THAT IS, it will be money well spent if the district representatives can agree upon a plan for unification of the district.

So far they have been unable to work together — or at least, have been unable to reach any agreement. And it became obvious, as the meetings continued over the past two-year period, that the individual districts were actually getting farther apart.

Now they will have an unbiased, professional, outside study. If this study is to accomplish its avowed purpose, the Stanford Research Group is going to need all the cooperation it can get.

WE SUGGEST that the representatives of the various school districts "Tell All" to the research team now. It would be ridiculous to withhold some of the "problems" even if they hurt, and then throw a monkey wrench into the works after the study is completed.

If this $9000 is to be well spent, an acceptable plan for unification must be the end result. And if this is to be the case, the individual school districts have got to agree, right now, to work together.

We are glad to see this study being made.

And we will be even happier if the results turn out satisfactorily.

It's a Wise Move...

It looks as if our municipal court will have a new, and badly needed home, if the recommendations of the joint study committee are accepted by the county.

And there is every reason to believe that they will be.

When this occurs, the muni court will be moved from its present crowded facilities on Locust Street in Walnut Creek to the second floor of the Veterans Memorial Building, also on Locust Street.

Perhaps this is not the ideal location, in that it is not located in the "civic center" as so many people wished it could be, but it is certainly ideal from the practical standpoint.

ALTHOUGH IT will take approximately $10,000 to $15,000 to remodel a portion of the building to make it suitable for courtroom use, it is much more economical to do this than to spend upwards of $100,000 to construct a new building to house the court.

Furthermore, it is wise use of existing facilities, in that the county already owns the building and is leasing it to the veterans organizations.

There is no plan of curtailing the use of the building by the veterans groups, and there is room for these and the court to co-exist.

IT IS WISE use of the taxpayers' money (yours and ours, that is) and the facilities will be an improvement over what now exists. For one thing, parking will be available.

The veterans groups are to be congratulated for "going along" with the plan, because the building was built primarily for their use. This is the spirit of cooperation which helps the whole county to overcome its growing pains as economically as possible.

We feel that this is a wise move and a step in the right direction.

Reflections in the Suds While Doing the Dishes!

By MARIE MONAHAN

THE CHILDREN think me a Square—an old-fashioned Mother!
But give me some time, then just watch me—
OH, Brother!
I'll tool around town in a jazzy sportscar . . .
My golf game will never be played above par.
I'll live high on a hill in a chic modern flat
With a pedigree poodle & a Siamese cat.
I'll have carpets of white, stay up late every night—
For dinners at home, cuisine strictly Gourmet—
I'll wear golden kid slippers & a gown of la-may.
(All this, yes siree, when I start to gray!)
I'LL SIT on my zabutons, study Yogi & Zen.
Play Brubeck & Beethoven & Newhart again!
I'll wear earrings to there & a glimmering necklace &
My dresses from Paris will be terribly reckless!
I'LL NEVER be cross & never get headaches—
I'll order my hats from Mr. John Frederics.
(But let's face it, my shoes will be good Enna Jetticks!)
IN A GREEN MARBLE bathtub I'll sit by the hours.
I'll have me a parrot &
Rooms full of flowers.
I'll have toenails of orange & eyelids of green.
A SWEDISH MASSEUSE & a reducing machine.
(I'll never get fat, I'll always stay lean!)
I'll see all the new plays & read all the good books.
Have Elizabeth Arden give me back my good looks.
I'll go to the races, lunch at the best places
(& look like the sort a rich gentleman chases . . .)
IT MAY BE that when I'm that very much older—
I'll shock everyone with a cigarette holder, not to mention
A LORGNETTE, a signifcant feature if
I'm to be known as that GORGEOUS Old Creature!
When Cub Scouts & PTA meets no longer haunt me—
I'll sigh with relief & NOTHING will daunt me . . .
I'll go all out for sports, say Tennis? (In SHORTS?)
I'll book passage on liners, summer all the gay ports &
Spend all my winters in famous resorts.
THE CHILDREN will fret, they'll say "Where's our Ma?"
BUT I'll be cavorting at some Shangri-La.
AH, THEN they'll be sorry I've become so impassioned
With Life & they'll wish I was home . . .
STILL OLD-FASHIONED!

OPERATION ABOLITION
Dear Editor:

This note is to congratulate you for having taken so dispassionate a view of the Parents' Club ruckus (in Orinda). It happens that the views expressed in your front page editorial correspond very closely to mine. I like to think, however, that I would have approved had you so objectively taken another view.

In any event, you have by admiration for trying to see the issues and for trying to state them clearly even though it must have been apparent to you that a majority of the community preferred to do otherwise.

Your efforts strike me as representing the best tradition of a free press. They were informative, instructive and courageous. The community is better for having heard from you.

JOHN P. McKEE.

OLD GLORY
Dear Editor:

The Walnut Creek Junior Chamber of Commerce wishes to thank you for your wonderful press releases on our flag project.

We feel that your cooperation has helped us make this a successful venture in the field of civic pride. The businessmen of the area have voiced their approval of our project by the initial signing of over 100 merchants subscribing to our service.

We feel that many of these are due in part to the help the press has given us.

We hope we have returned to Walnut Creek an almost lost pride of displaying our national banner. Our plan is to expand this service to fill the vacant spots seen in the initial display.

Your publicity was greatly appreciated by our entire organization.

CENTER STRIPE
Dear Editor:

It seems that at this moment some of the merchants of Lafayette need some encouragement — at least as I read some of the protests against the Mt. Diablo Boulevard center strip.

And a few of my friends who complain of the inconvenience should think a bit about their new and greater life expectancy.

First to the matter of the merchants. Like every resident here, I have always made left hand turns on and off Mt. Diablo Boulevard just about every time I felt like it. I won't be able to do it anymore—and it will take a few extra feet of driving (probably less time) to get to the shops that I patronize.

But please remember—I did not patronize these shops because I enjoyed the dangers of left hand turns—but because I was satisfied with the service and merchandise offered by the particular shop.

There is nothing in the construction of the center strip (except, perhaps, some indication of lack of foresight on the part of those who opposed it) that will change my evaluation of the shops that I patronize.

Now as to my friends who complain about the restrictions on left turns. They, just like myself, also complain about the "other guy" who is a "stupid driver" because he makes left hand turns (or blocks traffic while waiting for a left hand turn). Sometimes they can't understand how somebody can be so stupid—and drive so dangerously.

If my friends will just realize that often they are the "stupid" or "dangerous" driver to both the person in back of them and the person coming towards themselves, they will see that life is not going to be so difficult — and probably will be lengthened for some people who drive through town — because organization is coming out of chaos.

Finally a pat on the back to the group who forced this through — as a second step forward for Lafayette after many, many steps backward. And may I suggest now that access to and egress from Lower Happy Valley Road has been properly defined that we could use a stop sign at this intersection.

BOB KAHN

CENTER STRIPE
Dear Editor:

Your editorial, and Mr. Repetto's remarks to the Chamber of Commerce, in a recent issue of The Sun prompt the following, which I submit to your Letters to the Editor column:

I am one of the so-called "5 per cent" who is enthusiastically in favor of Lafayette's center strip. Surely this must be some kind of a "strip-tease" to declare there are only 5 per cent of us who favor Lafayette's beautification.

My father, David Powell, and my uncle, Arthur Powell, were developers of Lafayette in the early 1930s, along with several other men of vision. I first started coming to Lafayette through the old tunnel, and the town was a quiet little place then. Our favorite pastime was a leisurely Sunday drive.

Now, as a resident of Lafayette, I have found it exciting in the past year to watch the town lifting itself by its "bootstraps." The grubby patch of weeds that was the Plaza is now a charming flower garden. Other attractions: New shops with a rustic look, Danny Van Allen's European cafe, apartment houses with tropical garden pools and the colorful hanging foliage overlooking LaFiesta parking lot. Next comes the center strip!

Last Friday's editorial in the Sun states there is more to come. Off street parking and development of "back streets," we need. And don't forget our new library which will be coming along.

As a home owner and a "five per-center," I say hats off to our Chamber of Commerce, Beautification Committee, The Sun and to merchants with vision!

Wanna Pay $1 When You Drive Alone on a Freeway?

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Should motorists who drive alone on freeways be taxed $1 each day? Will this help solve the smog problem?

"Yes," says an eminent scientist, who emphatically believes that stringent measures must be taken if the smog crisis will ever be solved.

I'm not certain if Professor Fritz Zwicky of the California Institute of Technology is really serious but he certainly sounds it. Certainly no such law could be passed but Zwicky's anti-smog doctrines merit reading. I recently read an Associated Press article presenting some of his thoughts and here are a few paragraphs from it:

A casual look at the Los Angeles traffic (or on Diablo Freeway) shows that a majority of the automobiles carry only a single occupant. Zwicky says they stink up the atmosphere just as much as if they were carrying a full passenger load.

It'll cost you $1

Any lone motorist on the freeways who pollutes the atmosphere that way should pay a tax of, say $1 a day for this "extravagance," the scientist declares.

And sock them with $50 or $100 fines if they ignore the tax, he argues.

The lone driver would have to buy a sticker for his windshield to show he had paid. Any car with a single occupant and no sticker would be fair game for the traffic cop. For driving alone on city streets, the tax would be less.

How to use the money

Use the revenues from these procedures to finance the most promising avenues of smog research. Pull the financial rug out from under any scientific institution that doesn't produce results, urges the professor.

One reason why smog control hasn't gone far, Zwicky says, is that specialists are "often too set in their ways and too prejudiced, because of being unduly impressed by their accomplishments in relatively narrow fields."

A new approach to smog

The astrophysicist, who has a long string of astronomical and space achievements to his credit, advocates what he calls the morphological method of tackling the smog problem.

This method calls for the use of total knowledge in solving a problem which on its face may seem to be only one for an engineer or a chemist or some other scientific specialist.

He says that smog is not only the concern of the chemist and engineer but also of the psychologist, anthropologist, politician, educator and perhaps others.

All the imaginable possibilities must be examined before deciding on a course of action.

Well, dear reader, what do you think?

Baldwin Outlines Plans For Congress Session

Congressman John Baldwin's 34,000-vote margin over his opponent in the recent campaign led him to comment that improvements in mass communications have made people, ". . . more inclined to make up their own minds and more freely cross party lines."

Baldwin, a Republican, has been elected to the House of Representatives four times in his Sixth District, where registered Democrats far outnumber Republicans.

Baldwin has listed procurement of planning funds, some $90,000, for the $24 million Walnut Creek flood control project, as high on his priority list for 1961.

THE NATIONAL budget will be submitted to Congress in January, and the planning funds have been requested.

Study funds will also be required for investigation of the feasibility of increasing the depth of the channel from San Francisco Bay to Antioch to 40 feet.

The study is about half completed, but another $75,000 will be needed, Baldwin said.

If one or both are not in the January budget, he said, he will testify in their favor before the House Appropriations Committee.

BALDWIN said another big decision will be the financing of the federal highway program, involving State Highway 21 in this area. The federal government provides 90 per cent of the funds.

A one-cent a gallon gasoline tax applied two years ago will expire in June. New legislation calls for diversion of excise taxes from autos and parts to replace the gas tax.

Baldwin said he has asked the Bureau of the Budget for a detailed financial report on whether the excise tax will adequately finance the program.

Baldwin will again support the Wilderness Bill, and the Pt. Reyes National Seashore area measure.

HE SAID that his entire tenure as congressman has been in a Democratically controlled Congress, and he anticipates no problems.

Only 25 per cent of the legislation is decided along party lines, and he will support measures he feels are favorable whatever party the sponsor represents, he said.

Baldwin said California congressmen cooperate on matters affecting the state, including support of the six per cent differential for West Coast ship builders.

Baldwin said he is now the ranking Republican member of the House flood control subcommittee, is now No. 2 man on the watershed subcommittee, and third on the highway investigating subcommittee.

The Staff Corner

So You Can't Win?

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Three weeks ago along with thousands upon thousands of other people we traipsed to the opening of a big new store. The sole purpose of the trip for our family was to inscribe our names on forms which would be deposited for a prize drawing.

On arrival at the store, we took one look at the masses of cars in the parking lot, the throngs of people entering and departing through wide double doors, and decided we'd come back some other time.

PEOPLE with determined youngsters, however, often find themselves involved in situations no sane person would undertake. We listened to anguished comments from the younger ones, shrewd remarks of how nice it would be to win a color television or a sewing machine from the older ones, and we edged our way into a parking space.

Clutching hands to keep from being separated in the crowds, we entered the establishment en masse. Feeling somewhat similar to marines landing on a beach, we headed for the man handing out the forms.

HE SMILED sadly over the gleam in his eye at the people-packed store, and told us that due to the unexpected crowds he was fresh out of forms.

We didn't smile. We threaded our way out of the place, knowing only too well that we would have to repeat the process the next day in order to live with our youngsters.

We did. This time the man had the forms. We dutifully purchased some light bulbs and carpet tacks, and filled out the forms.

Then the long wait began. Only the youngsters had any real hope that one of our names would be drawn. Only the two youngest even remembered the date for the drawing.

FINALLY, on Thanksgiving Eve, the phone rang. A friend called to say she had seen our youngest son's name posted with the prize winners. The original list posted did not reveal what prize went to whom.

Unfortunately the family car was in the garage. It was pouring rain, luckily, or curiosity would have driven us to walk the three miles to the store.

By the time we were mobile again the store had closed for the night and the holiday. We tried to tone down the expectations voiced by the children, who were chewing nails along with turkey bones in a fever of excitement.

ALL DAY Friday they waited for the time we could go to the store and claim number three son's prize. Friends called, promises to let them know what we won were tossed over the wires.

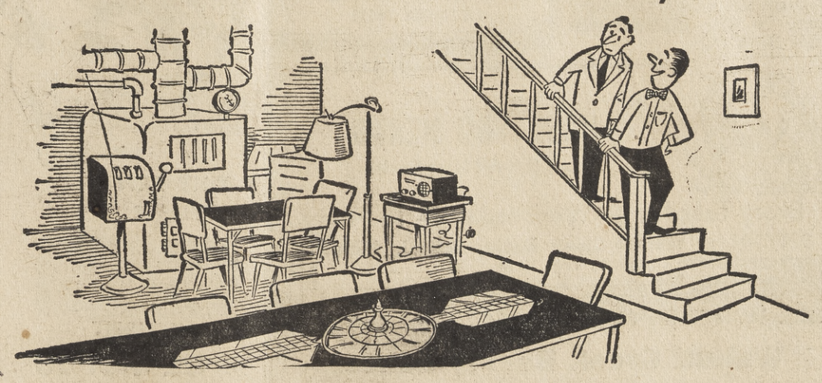
At last the big moment arrived. We were actually going out the door when the phone rang. It was for Bruce. It was the store informing him of his prize.

As we waited with baited breath for him to hang up and reveal the news, we noticed an odd expression come over his eager little face. He turned from the phone slowly, and with careful enunciation, as though making a proclamation, he said, "I won a 30 gallon GARBAGE CAN!"

THE FAMILY dissolved in hysterical laughter. Someone, trying to be kind, remarked, "Not EVERYONE can win a garbage can," but the sentence was never finished.

Morale: People do win things, people you know . . . all is not lost in this frantic age of super stores. Look at us, with the best shiniest garbage can in the neighborhood!

Suburbia Today



"This is the rumpus room. Not yet finished but it's already paying for itself."

The Michael Jasons Are Busy People

Sports, School Affairs Keep This Family Busy

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Nearly seven years ago Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jason and their sons moved to the Parkmead area of Walnut Creek and plunged into community affairs with such enthusiasm it sparked the entire neighborhood.

Sue Jason's initial effort with the Parkmead PTA would have cured forever most women's desire to ever again help PTA, but Mrs. Jason sailed through with flying colors and has continued to serve PTA for six years.

SPEAKING of this first undertaking, she said, "The board asked me to serve as chairman of the annual Parkmead Fun Fair. I blithely said yes, not knowing was a fun fair was!"

Both Sue and her husband Michael soon found out! Preparing for this event involved weeks of planning, ordering supplies, recruiting and organizing help, and sharing the responsibility of handling hundreds of dollars.

Mike Jason built and erected all of the booths used at the fair. Finally the big day arrived and with it one of the worst rain storms barring the floods of '55 that the area had ever witnessed!

THE TREMENDOUS turn out at the fair and its unqualified success was a tribute to the efforts and the leadership of the chairman, Sue Jason. Not one volunteer begged off because of sodden clothes and freezing feet, and the children came in hordes bringing their parents along, too.

Since that first tremendous undertaking, Mrs. Jason has served on the Parkmead PTA board for six years, been room mother "for one son or another" for six years, originated the Parkmead Saturday movies and the Parkmead T shirts of this year. Last year she served as chairman of the steering committee to form the Del Valle High School Parents Club.

When Sue Jason says, "Children are my chief love, I enjoy doing anything connected with them," she really means it. Who else could serve six terms as a den mother and still look forward to serving again when the next son becomes of age?

MIKE AND Sue Jason met at a friend's home in Los Angeles. He came from Bridgewater, Massachusetts and she is from Piedmont. Mike is a salesman for Paramino Lumber Company.

"Mike's biggest hobby is gardening," Mrs. Jason said. "It's not something he has to do, he can't wait to do it! He likes all sports, 'the big outdoors' is really his greatest interest."

In addition to building the fun fair booths, Mike Jason helped construct the baseball diamond backstop at Parkmead School, and served his stint at planting lawns around the upper grade school.

A Den Dad for several years, he took many groups of Cubs on field trips and helped out with some of their more ambitious craft work. He's also helped with the Boy Scouts, and served as assistant coach for two years with the Walnut Creek Youth Athletic Association of which he is an active member.

TOGETHER the Jasons plan many projects which Mike, a better than average do-it-yourself man, puts into reality with his woodcraft talents. "He does beautiful work," Mrs. Jason remarked.

Peter Jason, at 15, is an avid sports fan. He plays junior varsity football at Del Valle, but his interests and abilities are not confined to sports alone. Pete was the first president of the first student body at Del Valle High School.

Frank Jason, 13, is a seventh grade student at Parkmead School. "Frank is the biggest sports fiend of all," said his mother. "He wants to be a pro ball player and at the rate he's going it wouldn't surprise me at all."

BILL JASON, 10, is a fourth grade student at Parkmead. "Bill's main interest is music," Mrs. Jason said. "He doesn't play an instrument, but listens for hours to anything from opera to hot jazz. Bill would like to be a singer on television.

"He has a nice voice and sang in the Grace Church Choir, but it's difficult for anyone but the family to get him to sing at this stage," she laughed.

Don Jason, who will be six on December 11, is in kindergarten at Parkmead. "Don is following in his brother's footsteps," his mother commented. "He gets in his brother's baseball and football uniforms and gets out there with the rest of the gang."

WEEKENDS, summers and "every possible chance we get" the family goes to a relative's cabin in Alturas where they hunt, fish and enjoy outdoor life.

Being wife and mother to an all male family, Sue Jason has acquired a philosophical outlook on their activities. "Being a city girl," she said, "I hate the country and camping. However, when Don was born and Mike asked what I would like for a gift, I asked for a sleeping bag.

"I knew what would happen being mother to four boys and I figured I might as well be prepared!"

WHEN THE Jasons are not involved in one or several youth projects of an evening, they like to go out to dinner. For the past three years they have attended the Civic Light Opera series in San Francisco.

Luckily, with four hungry boys to feed, Mrs. Jason loves to cook and try out recipes. Her other interest is reading. "I love to curl up somewhere alone and read whenever I get the chance," she admitted.

Opportunities for doing this are infrequent, however, for Sue Jason has still another project this year. She was instrumental in forming the first auxiliary to the Council For the Retarded.

KNOWN AS the Mary-Lynn Auxiliary, the group is now ten members strong and dedicated to assisting the Council for the Retarded. The name was chosen from the Bible, "mary" and from the two schools for the retarded.

Any women interested in serving their community in this way may call Mrs. Jason at YE 5-0736.

One other male lives with the Jasons at 1697 Poplar Drive, and that is Shane, the boys' dog, who Mrs. Jason "thinks" is a schnauzer.

It's Miniature Tree Time

A veritable wonderland of over 150 miniature Christmas trees will be exhibited at the tenth annual Festival of Christmas Trees sponsored by the branches of Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

The exhibition will run for seven days, December 9 through 15, on the mezzanine of the Hotel Claremont. Mrs. Francis A. Knapp, general chairman of the branches, states that the unique trees on display and for sale at the festival are the results of imagination plus work on the part of branch members and friends of the hospital, including decorators, artists, florists, civic leaders and business and industrial firms.

A gala preview party on Friday, December 9, on the Claremont Hotel's mezzanine floor, will open the popular affair. The party will begin at 6 p.m. and end at 12 p.m.

On Saturday and the remaining days of the show, the display will open at 10 a.m. and close at 10 p.m. All proceeds from admissions and the sale of the unusual Christmas trees will benefit the Children's Hospital of the East Bay's charitable program, which provides medical care for thousands of children, according to Mrs. Knapp.

Area women assisting with arrangements are Mesdames Kenneth Humphreys, Ralph Macduff, William B. Morrison and Charles Williams.

Test Spawning Area Is Successful

"It was love at first sight."

That's the way Biologist Robert Menchen of Sacramento describes the initial reactions of the first 30 king salmon to arrive at the East Bay Municipal Utility District's new, experimental spawning area on the Mokelumne River.

"They started pairing off right away," said Menchen. "It looks promising."

MENCHEN, AN employee of the State Department of Fish and Game, is living in a house trailer at the artificial spawning site to oversee its operation. EBMUD will reimburse the fish and game department for his salary.

The spawning area, first of its kind in California, was built by EBMUD at a cost of $23,332. It is situated 3½ miles below Pardee Dam near the mother-lode ghost town of Lancha Plana. The area eventually will be inundated by the utility district's giant Camanche Reservoir, to be completed in 1964.

Because the reservoir will eliminate many natural spawning areas on the Mokelumne, EBMUD has agreed to build either a permanent artificial spawning channel or a hatchery below Comanche Dam, whichever proves more efficient. The experiment at Lancha Plana will decide this question.

So far, it looks good, but Menchen and his superior, George Warner of Sacramento, Region 2 fisheries management supervisor, aren't committing themselves fully until the experiment is complete.

A TOTAL OF 130 king salmon, 50 males, 50 females and 30 jacks (immature males), will be transported to the spawning site from the fish trap at Woodbridge Dam. The role played by the jacks in spawning is not certain, but they are found in natural spawning areas and fish and game officials are endeavoring to simulate natural conditions as closely as possible.

Knowing how many eggs the average salmon lays and how many hatch under natural conditions, fish and game experts will be able, by counting surviving salmon fry, to determine the efficiency of EBMUD's spawning area.

The experimental channel, parallel to the river, is 200 feet long and 28 feet wide with a 30-by-40 foot holding pool at the upstream end and a screened box at the downstream end where the fry will be trapped for counting when they begin their long journey to the sea.

Gates at the upstream end control the level of the water and the rate of flow. The channel has a special, graded gravel bottom, duplicating conditions found in natural spawning areas.

THE SALMON introduced into the experimental channel are near the end of their careers. Their digestive organs began to atrophy weeks ago when they were still in the ocean. They have only one function left: the females to lay eggs, the males to fertilize them. Then the adults will die and the fry will begin the strange life cycle which four years later will bring them back up the Mokelumne to meet a similar fate.

So far, says Menchen, the salmon are doing their duty. Several of the females have selected their areas of operation. They lit flat on their sides on the bottom and flip their tails to disturb the gravel so that the natural flow of the stream will wash it away. When an area has been hollowed out they will lay their eggs. During this procedure, the male hovers over her ready to fertilize the mass of eggs. He also drives off other males and jacks, salmon being essentially monogamous.

The entire area has been fenced off and fish and game wardens in the area have been instructed to keep a close eye on te project. Poaching is unlikely, but anyone who risks it is going to wish he hadn't says Menchen, who takes an almost maternal attitude toward his charges.

He points out that no true sportsman would jeopardize the project because, if it is successful, it could be the means of bringing salmon back by the thousands to the Mokelumne and making it a salmon fishermen's paradise.

In the last analysis, of course, this is up to the salmon, and, to date, says Menchen, it looks hopeful.

Varsity Wins, JVs Lose for Acalanes Dons

The Acalanes basketball team traveled to Vallejo for their opener Tuesday and when it was all over, the Don varsity had a 36-34 win while the Bees went down, 44-42.

Coach Bert Burnett, in his first game as varsity coach, was pleased and surprised with the varsity play as they were never behind except for one short stage in the third quarter when they trailed, 20-18.

IT WAS an even steven first quarter as the scoreboard showed an 8-8 count, with Acalanes holding an uncomfortable, 16-15, halftime advantage.

Acalanes wound up the third period ahead, 28-22, and held on for the 36-34 win as Vallejo came fast to close the gap, only to have time run out.

Tops for the Dons in the scoring column was center Dennis Herrick with 15 points, while Vallejo forward Jim Corey had 12 points.

OTHER Acalanes scorers were Tom Strain with nine, Doug Treter six, Dave Stegman three, and Glen Abernathy three.

In the Bee games, the Acalanes club trailed at the half, 25-14, only to come back to make it close but not close enough as they went down, 44-42.

The Dons' Gary Miller was high scorer with 15 points, despite the fact fouls put him on the bench and he got tossed out in the fourth quarter when he collected his fifth foul.

LEN FERRO, another regular guard, went out in the final period via the same route.

The Dons' next action on a varsity level will be the Miramonte tournament next Friday and Saturday.

The Ski Line

The Greatest Thing Ever Has Now Hit Skiing . . .

By HEC HANCOCK

You know, one of the fastest growing indoor winter sports has become discussing the phenomenal growth of skiing, particularly, skiing in California.

Now, I don't want to create the impression that this newest pastime does, or will ever present any real threat to such time honored recreations as musical chairs, spin the bottle, or even flinch. The probability is that it will fall into such a profound category as discussions of what was there before suburbia, and whatever did happen to the downstate farm vote?

MANY THINGS have been attributed with having had a very lasting impact upon the local ski scene. Chair lifts, for example, have made it easy for such lazy dolts as myself to reach otherwise unattainable summits. Equipment has greatly improved, highways and travel are much easier, the recent Olympics exposed a multitude of unsuspecting souls to the joys of the winter wonderlands.

However, great as these contributions are, there is still a far greater development, a development is easily the finest thing to happen to skiing since Snowshoe Thompson came over the hill. That it hasn't yet been befittingly acknowledged is amazing. Speaking with rare and wondrous knowledge occasionally visited upon the uncouth and great unwashed, I offer as skiing greatest contribution, the stretch pant! In a word, WOW!

REPORTS ON THE first two weekends of skiing were generally very good, but the most glowing accounts appear to come from the Heavenly Valley area. During the past summer considerable work has been undertaken to rectify a few shortcomings of the area, apparently with fine success.

The face of the main slope has been cleared of any obstruction, so that a pack of a foot or two should be sufficient to put them in business. A new lift was added on top, getting up over the 8000 ft. level. The terrain isn't too demanding, and thus becomes one of few spots the intermediate skier can enjoy the early pack and better snow conditions available at this altitude.

The Heavenly Valley-Lake Tahoe area has a great deal to offer the skier. Since this is a major all-year resort area, there is very little problem obtaining fine accomodations within easy driving distance. With Stateline a stone's throw away, there is a much greater variety of entertainment available than in the average ski area.

THE OPENING WEEK end was not without incident, either. Pretty Virginia Merrill, "Snow Queen" of the Mt. Diablo Ski Club, made her first venture forth on the chair lifts at Squaw Valley. However, her timing upon getting aboard left something to be desired, and before the slow reactiing attendant could stop the contraption, she was dangling by little other than her imagination 20 feet above terra firma. However, with the ablomb of a sky jumper, she plummeted earthward with all the grace of a rock, fortunately to bury herself harmlessly in a snow drift. Now her fellow club members are preparing to present her a suitable trophy of her unique accomplishment.

Del Valle Posts Two Cage Wins

Del Valle High is playing a junior varsity and frosh basketball schedule this year, due to the fact sophomores are their top class, and on the basis of results to date they appear to be in for a good season.

Two outings to date have produced a pair of junior varsity wins as they topped San Ramon, 21-18, in their debut last week, and then upset College Park Tuesday as they eked out a one-point victory, winning, 33-32.

BIG GUNS in the winners' attack were Bob Kovats, who hit the mesh for 13 points, and Bill O'Toole, who tanked 12 points.

Individual scoring honors went to College Park's Mickey Soytkowski, who massaged the hoop for a nifty 14 points.

Other scorers for Del Valle were John Cowell with five, Dave Anderson with two and Randy Quadros with one.

COLLEGE PARK looked to be on their way as they shot to an 11-3 first quarter lead and then held on for a 14-8 halftime advantage.

Del Valle mentor Doug Pedersen evidently gave his charges the word at halftime, as they came back with a vengeance to outscore the College Park club 14-7 to take a 22-21 lead, and that proved to be the difference as each team hit for 11 points in the final period of play.

Fishing the Delta Will Continue as Very Good

By LARRY JACKSON

All addicts of fishin' fever—a Waltonian disease—have been receiving glowing reports of the historic run of the stripers in our Bay water. Investigation proves this to be true.

Being of an inquisitive nature, we asked ourself, how far up stream do these prizes of the fishing sack go and what are the conditions enroute. So let's go.

Started off at Crockett where we called on the boys at Dowrellio's. Two of their boats had just docked and we stood by and watched the catch being cleaned.

Even the distaff side, and there were several, were busy with the knife and scaler on beauties ranging from eight to nine pounds to a good respectable 14 to 15 pounds.

Reports were right—the fishing was better than good and it was a happy group of sportsmen and gals.

We made several stops along the river fronts from Crockett up stream, but found only pier or shore fishing until we hit White's Fishing Resort. This operation is clean and interesting, some seaworthy skiff for rent and a few with motors. It is located three miles west of Martinez on the Crockett road.

All hands agree fishing is good—now remember this was before the storm of Friday last. But if you are an avid fisherman you know that fishing is always better just the day before you go out.

For years this writer had heard of a character called Smitty at Bob's Bait Box at the foot of the Antioch Bridge—so we headed in that direction.

For the information of all concerned, "iffen" it's information you wish, advice to the novice and directions to the best in fishing spots, make this a stop and consult with Smitty. Fishing technique and baits are Smitty's forte and he won't set you wrong.

Prognosticating for the future, we will say that fishing will be good. Plenty of fish in the waters and the weather is conductive to good fishing. Last Friday's weather was more suited to duck hunting, however.

Speaking of ducks, opened the first half of the season at a little spot I happen to know, between two of the largest and strongest duck clubs in the Suisun basin—west side. Have never seen so many sprig in my life.

We have high hopes for a repeat on the second half opening as new birds should be in the area. Closed out the duck season at Colusa in bluebird shirt sleeve weather with a nice mallard return and plan to open there for the second half.

It has been our custom over the period of at least 10 years to open the pheasant season at the pheasant bowl in Gridley. This is the first season when we did not limit out our 10 birds by the required time of four days.

Bad weather was the main complaint among pheasant fans, but from our observations and a lot of questioning, we have come to the conclusion that the ranchers in the Gridley-Biggs area are either money hungry or against the pheasant shooters.

Donald Negus Is Grid Letterman

A Lafayette youth is among the 36 students of Shattuck School, Faribault, Minn., who received varsity football letters for the recently completed season.

He is Donald Negus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Negus, 1041 Los Arabis Lane.

The Shads finished the season with a 6-1 record and won second place in the Minnesota Independent School League.

Don Wrestlers Face Big Season

The Acalanes Dons opened the wrestling season Wednesday when they faced the Mt. Diablo High Red Devils at Acalanes.

The Don grapplers really get into action in full swing next week when the junior varsity travels to Del Valle Monday, while the varsity goes into action as they meet up with San Lorenzo at San Lorenzo Wednesday and meet Clayton Valley at home next Friday.

Slated to see varsity action are Chris McNulty at 103; Rick Butler and Tim Fox at 120; Doug Southworth and Bob Bruno at 127; Dan Dahlgren and Mike Roach at 133; Quentin Young at 138; Jim Shaw and Phil Grant at 145; Jeff Davis at 154; Tom Peterson and Paul Dreyer or Lou Encalda at 165; Lee Egland at 175; Gilmore Van Stone at 191 and Denny Toll at heavyweight.

Food Center Downs Presidio In First Contest

The newly-organized Lafayette Food Center basketball team made an auspicious debut Monday night when they dealt the Presidio of San Francisco's team its first loss, 67-63, in San Francisco.

Frank Chuck of the Lafayette team led the night's scorers with 20 points, and other locals who scored high were Bill Mort with 15 and Jerry Coakley with eight.

The team, organized by Bill Link, practices Tuesday nights at the Acalanes High School gym. All of its games this season will be played on the road, Link said.

Vikings Open Home Cage Play Tomorrow

Gaels Will Open Home Cage Play Tomorrow Night

The opening contest of an abbreviated home schedule finds the St. Mary's Gaels pitted against Long Beach State College tomorrow. Following close behind on Monday is an on-campus tilt with Humboldt State College.

Dick Perry, who is a first year mentor at LB State, has four starters from last season's squad which posted a 17-7 overall record. Forward Ron Stewart, last season's leading scorer is returning with running mate Ron Showalter. The pivot man Bill Florentine and guard Hank Salcido are also back for another season.

THE FIFTH SLOT will be filled by Randy Sandefur, last season's sixth man, or by one of a trio of top flight junior college transfers, Mel Howery 6.0 from Ventura JC, George Yackey 5.10 from Fullerton JC or Ron Young 6.1 from Orange Coast JC.

This will be the first time that the two schools have met in intercollegiate competition in recent years.

Humboldt State invades the Moraga confines again paced by big 6.6 center Larry Krupka. The Lumberjacks succumbed to the Gaels, 91-54, in their only outing last season.

UNLESS THE JACKS come up with some fine JC talent, they will have trouble filling vacancies left by graduation.

In both of the contests, the Gaels will probably go with Womack and Sheridan at the guards, Holmes at center and Gray and Meschery at the forwards.

Two service clubs will provide opposition to the Gael frosh in preliminary games before the two varsity contests. Tomorrow the visitors will be Moffett Field and Monday, Mare Island.

Game time for the varsity tilt is 8 p.m. and for the frosh 6 p.m.

Five Local Prep Stars On College's Varsity

While high school sports in the central county area are at a temporary lull until wrestling and basketball get going in earnest next week, local fans are turning their attentions to college basketball.

And in this field, the area residents will be treated to a choice of two good home openers — one at Diablo Valley College, where the Vikings will host Santa Rosa Junior College, and the other at St. Mary's (see other story).

The Vikings actually opened their season yesterday at the College of Marin in Kentfield, and the team's new coach, Charlie Karp, is looking ahead to the schedule with more than the usual mixed emotions.

"HERE I AM," the former Mt. Diablo High coach said, "with the largest basketball turnout in the college's history, and not a single letterman on the squad."

Except for transfers Bill Noscrip, a 19-year-old guard who played for Tacoma's Pacific Lutheran College last year, and Don Montgomery, who played a year as a freshman forward at the University of Arizona, Karp's current entourage is strictly first year college material.

The varsity squad includes five former stars on central county prep teams. One of these, 18-year-old forward Bill Albert from Acalanes, figures prominently in Karp's plans for the season.

"Despite our lack of experience," Karp promised, "this will be an exciting season. These kids have a lot of enthusiasm and old fashioned hustle. They're aggressive and they're fast."

He especially cited his 17-year-old center, Rainey Smith, a 6'5" All-Leaguer at Pittsburg last year.

Karp, who coached at San Mateo College last year, considers junior college basketball a lot less predictable than high school ball, particularly since you have no idea of the kind of material you'll run up against until you meet on the floor.

Lomas Opens Cage Play Next Week

Coach Merrill Callow of Las Lomas has had his Knights hitting the practice sessions on a gradual scale as he prepares his charges for their first basketball game, which will be when they take part in the Miramonte tournament next Friday and Saturday.

Colds and injuries have slowed the drill sessions down.

A BACK injury to Phil Marsh, who was a standout Bee last season, has sidelined him, and he may be out indefinitely.

Harold Stephenson, reporting fresh from football, came up with a strained back and has been benched as a result, but probably will be ready for the tournament play.

Darryl Dunbar, ace guard, has had knee problems while Perry Conner has been down with a cold.

AS COACH CALLOW put it, "I'm glad we aren't playing this week, and I hope we come around in time to get ready as a unit for the play at Miramonte."

The Knights, always a good solid club, are expected to give Miramonte and Piedmont a run for top honors in league play.

Area Schools Honoring Football, Tennis Stars

By ERWIN MATTSON

Football banquets honoring the pigskin athletes have been the order of the day.

Miramonte recently held theirs and besides letter awards, gave out a number of special honors. Mason Fries, all league tackle, was given the outstandiing lineman trophy while quarterback Bill Hilger did likewise in the backfield division. It is interesting to note that his brother, Bruce Hilger, won the same honor while at Miramonte.

The affair, held on a father-son basis at Happy Valley Inn, found four players being selected for the most courageous player honors. Those named were Wayne Webster, Bill Kent, Phil Stevens and Bob Boyle.

Acalanes held their banquet at the high school cafeteria Wednesday night, and it was also a father-son affair.

The banquet honored members of varsity and junior varsity football and tennis.

Players were presented with letter awards and top honors for the outstanding performers were announced by the coaches with appropriate trophies going to those receiving the honors.

The outstanding tennis trophy went to John Morrison and the most improved player award went to Dave Dornsife.

The most outstanding football player award went to Tom Strain, while Geoff Picard took honors as the most courageous lineman, getting the Ted Fry Memorial Trophy.

In cross country, the outstanding award went to Guy Raekback.

Local pro football fans are really whooping it up, with the 49ers upsetting Balitmore and still in the pennant race, while the Philadelphia Eagles are in a top spot in their division and a good bet to wind up in the showdown between the two divisions.

Local interest is high on the Eagles because of Buck Shaw, who was an outstanding local player at Santa Clara and as a coach before moving on the pro ranks.

Norm Van Brocklin, an all time local great dating back to when he was at Acalanes, at the ripe old age (for a pro) of 34 is having a great season with Philadelphia.

Norm, or "Stub" as he was known, says this is his last year as a player, while Shaw says he is quitting coaching this year. It's a great windup for both and many are putting two and two together and predicting that "Stub" will take over as head coach.

I consulted Soss Opple on this and he said the odds are 99-1 that the statement is true.

Barbara Romack Plays at Round Hill Club Sunday

Barbara Romack, Women's U.S. National Amateur Champion in 1958, and 1960 winner of the Indiana State Open, will give a golf exhibition at the new Round Hill Country Club in Alamo Sunday, according to Norman Tauscher, P.G.A. pro for the club.

Following a clinic-demonstration, Miss Romack will participate in a nine-hole exhibition match with Barbara Williams, 1960 California State Amateur champion, Bill Rigney, former manager of the San Francisco Giants, who is one of the better golfers from the baseball school, and Tauscher.

BOTH THE clinic-demonstration and the exhibition match will be open to the public at no charge, as well as for members and guests of the country club, according to John Sparrowk, president of Round Hill.

The exhibition will start at 1 p.m., and will follow a pre-Christmas brunch affair for members and wives of the newly formed club, which will be held at the Red Mill in Lafayette.

The exhibition will be given just inside of the entrance gates of the club, located one mile east of Alamo on Stone Valley Road.

TAUSCHER stated that this is an opportunity to see two of the finest women golfers in the country, one a professional and the other an amateur.

In addition to Barbara Romack's successes as outlined above, she was runner-up in the 1960 Western Open, member of the U.S. Curtis Cup Team in 1954, '55 and '58 and California State Amateur Champion in 1952, '54, '56 and '58. She is a member of the MacGregor Golf Advisory Staff and resides in Sacramento, where she operates an insurance business.

Barbara Williams was the first alternate on the 1960 U.S. Curtis Cup team and was National Amateur Quarter Finalist in 1959. She is 22 years of age and resides in Richmond.

Education Board Names Advice Council

Contra Costa County Board of Education has voted sponsorship of an Educational Advisory Council.

It is a group representative of the county's schools and directed toward objectives of eliminating duplication of effort, improving communication among the school districts and keeping abreast of new developments in education.

The council consists of representatives from each of the 32 school districts and Dr. Frank Burke, director of educational services, Contra Costa Schools.

A Curriculum Coordinating Committee carries out educational projects through sub-committees.

Members of this committee are Frank Vonder Ahe, principal of Liberty Union High School; Wayne Jordan, assistant superintendent for instruction, Antioch Unified School District; Floyd Larson, deputy superintendent, San Pablo School District;

Dr. John D. Andes, assistant superintendent for instruction, Richmond Schools; Lily L. Lahti, coordinator of instructional services, Acalanes Union High School District; Everett McNicholas, assistant superintendent, instructional services, Orinda Union School District; and Dr. Burke.

Preparation of a guide to health education, grades kindergarten through 12, will be the first undertaking. Such a guide was recommended by a joint conference of physicians and educators held October 5 through 6 at Walnut Creek.

Two Area Girls Are Contestants For Ski Queen

Two central county girls are among the 11 contestants representing individual ski clubs in the 1960-61 Snow Queen competition which will be decided tomorrow night.

They are Pat McSorley, 1110 Homestead Avenue, Walnut Creek, representing the Kaleva Ski Club; and Virginia Merrill, 763 El Pintado Court, Danville, representing the Mt. Diablo Ski Club.

This year's Snow Queen will be named at the 14th annual Snow Queen Ball to be held at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco at 9 p.m. tomorrow. The event is sponsored by the Bay Area Ski Federation, and is the only big social event of the year for Bay Area skiers.

The queen will reign over the Bay Area Ski Federation's Winter Carnival in January and will receive an all-expense ski week for two at Der Wedlin Inn, Mt. Shasta.

Bank of America Groups Purchase School Bonds

Bank of America NT&SA underwriting syndicates today purchased three Contra Costa County school bond issues, totaling $1,535,000.

A Bank of America syndicate purchased $785,000 of the bonds of the Mt. Diablo Unified School District, consisting of $356,000 of 1957 school bonds and $429,000 of 1960 school bonds.

THE BANK GROUP paid a premium of $639 for a combination of 5 per cent, 4 per cent, 3½ per cent and 3¾ per cent and 1 per cent bonds, or a net interest cost to the district of 3.65 per cent. The bonds were reoffered to investors to yield from 2 to 3.85 per cent, according to maturity December 15, 1961-1980. The bonds due in 1981 and 1982 were not reoffered.

Another Bank of America syndicate bought the $750,000 bond issue of the Acalanes Union High School District, paying a premium of $449 for a combination of 5 per cent, 3 per cent, 3¼ per cent, 3½ per cent and 3¾ per cent bonds. The net interest cost to the district was 3.67 per cent. The bonds were reoffered to investors to yield from 2.15 to 3.85 per cent, according to maturity January 1, 1962-1981.

The Mt. Diablo Unified School District bonds sold today represented the eighth offering from a $5,500,000 issue voted in May, 1957, and the first offering from an $8,000,000 issue voted in September, 1960.

PROCEEDS of the sales are being used for purchase of school sites, construction of school buildings, as well as additions to existing schools.

The Acalanes Union High School bonds are part of an issue voted in 1955. Proceeds of the sale will be used for various school purposes.

Bank of America and its underwriting syndicates finance a large share of the construction and equipping of new schools and additions to existing schools in the state. The bank and its associates in the past 12 months have purchased more than $697 million of California state and municipal bonds of all types.

Members of the Bank of America syndicate which bought the $785,000 of Mt. Diablo Unified School District bonds were: Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc.; E. F. Hutton & Company; Stone & Youngberg; Lawson, Levy, Williams & Stern; Irving Lundborg & Co.; Shuman, Agnew & Co.; Cruttenden, Podesta & Co.; C. N. White & Co.

Santa Claus Anonymous Makes Christmas Merrier

Christmas gifts for needy families are already arriving at Santa Claus Anonymous headquarters, 1380 Main Street, Walnut Creek. Thirteen year old Everett Crockett of 1105 Bont Lane, Walnut Creek, donated a bike.

Many other children have donated bikes and toys. Canned goods and money are also being received by Santa Claus Anonymous, according to Mrs. John Selley, coordinator for the project.

Organizations are contributing a diversity of talents and materials. Girl Scouts of Troops 119 and 277, Walnut Creek, are making and stuffing stockings; Campfire Girls of Lafayette School are making gifts; Senior Citizens of Lafayette, Danville, Walnut Creek and Orinda are repairing bicycles and tricycles; and Dollies, Incorporated is repairing and dressing dolls.

Capwells of Walnut Creek and Rhodes of Concord are donating toys. Bomacs of Walnut Creek is donating spare parts for repair of bicycles.

"The response to Santa Claus Anonymous is encouraging," said Mrs. Selley. She stressed the need for more bicycles and more gifts for teenagers. Canned goods are also needed in large quantities, inasmuch as all food baskets contain a three day supply.

Donations of money are especially welcome to provide for the inevitable shortages. "Last year we supplied 80 needy families in this area; this year we anticipate a much longer list of such families," she said.

The names of needy families are provided by the Salvation Army, the Mt. Diablo Chapter of the American Red Cross, school nurses, and the County Social Service Department. All names are carefully screened by the Social Service Department.

The collection depot, furnished the project by Mr. T. G. Casey, is located at 1380 Main Street, Walnut Creek, for individuals and organizations wishing to donate toys in good condition, canned goods and money. Bicycles may also be deposited at any Chevron Station in the area.

Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Selley at the Volunteer Bureau.

Culvert Job Is Completed In Danville

The Board of Supervisors has approved as complete a contract with Robert R. Murdoch of Orinda for the replacement of four culverts on Diablo Road, Danville.

The culverts are on the east branch of Green Valley Creek, where it crosses Diablo Road, at three locations between Green Valley Road and the Mt. Diablo State Park Road, and Green Valley Road, at its intersection with Diablo Road.

The existing culverts were in good condition and were salvaged for use at other locations. They were replaced because of insufficient capacity to handle flood flows.

County Will Build Annex To Administration Bldg.

The construction of a $2 million annex to the Contra Costa County Administration Building in Martinez, including a 10-story tower, was proposed recently.

Preliminary plans for the structure were reviewed by county supervisors November 22, Robert Van Nord, head of the County Building Projects Division, said.

The plans would more than triple the size of the present administration building at Pine and Escobar Streets.

The plans already have the approval of the heads of all departments which will eventually occupy the structure, Van Noord said.

April or May of next year has been tentatively scheduled for start of construction, with completion set for mid-1963.

The structure would raise to four stories the existing two and four story, L-shaped administration building and add four-story wings along Main and Pine Streets.

The 10-story tower is planned for construction at the Main and Pine Street corner where an old frame residence now houses the Martinez Judicial District Court, Van Noord said.

The finished structure would be a rectangle with an enclosed patio for light in the center of the present Pine Street parking lot, Van Noord stated.

It would add 80,000 square feet of office space to the existing 33,000 square foot administration building and eventually house a majority of county administrative offices, he added.

The supervisors will be asked to authorize the architects, Confer, Willis and Anderson of Oakland, to prepare working drawings and specifications.

Contest Prizes Won by Children

Five young central county residents were among the winners in the recently-completed fourth annual Children's Book Week Contest, conducted by the Holmes Book Company of Oakland and school systems of Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

One of the local area winners is from Danville—Carolyn Corsky of 325 Hartford Road, who won a first place in the 9 to 11 group—and other four are from Orinda.

The Orinda winners are Freidel Braumoeller of 56 Claremont Avenue, second place in the 6 to 8 group; Catherine Whinnery of 10 Irving Court, third place in the 9 to 11 group; Jim James of 10 Washington Lane, third place in the 12 to 14 group; and Michael Ferrone of 294 Glorietta Boulevard, honorable mention in the 6 to 8 group.

County Asked To Cut Cardroom License Fees

Contra Costa County Supervisors have been requested to relax cardroom licensing regulations by attorney David J. Levy, representing a group of cardroom operators.

Levy said the county's license fees are three to four times those charged cardrooms and individual dealers in eight of the county's 11 cities. The cities of Richmond, El Cerrito and San Pablo outlaw cardrooms.

If it was the county's intention to outlaw cardrooms then it should have done so instead of enacting a law that will tax cardroom out of existence, Levy said.

An annual fee of $150 for the cardroom and $100 for each dealer plus a levy of $25 per month, or $300 annually, for each card table is charged by the county.

Cities tax $100 or less for each card table, and $25 for each dealer, Levy said.

Levy also asked the county to allow the cardrooms to run all night on Saturdays and Sundays instead of closing them at 2 a.m. and to allow eight players instead of seven for each table.

County Sales Tax Revenues Are $4 Million

Revenues to Contra Costa County last year from The State Board of Equalization's refund of the one per cent sales and use taxes amounted to $4,229,000, it was announced.

Walnut Creek received a total of $519,350, compared to Concord's total of $446,667.

No. 4 city is Cerrito with $305,000.

Alameda County, mainly due to Oakland, was far ahead of Contra Costa, with $14,000,000. Oakland accounted for one half of this.

Extension Study Group Has Party

All Little Boys Become Cubs

By CONNIE PIKE

The initial mistake we made was to have a little boy.

Little girls want curls and bouffant dresses, tea parties, ballet lessons and boy friends.

Little boys want to be Cub Scouts.

Perhaps you haven't thought it through, but boys eventually become eight years old and enter the third grade. You may have to push a little to get them into the third, but the eight years old comes automatically.

Our second mistake took longer to make itself apparent. Scouting being what it is—worthwhile, honorable and character building—we never once spoke against it.

WE SHOULD have. At the time our little boy first opened his dark eyes and grinned wickedly at us, we should have.

A remark such as, "Cub Scouts have to work terribly hard on achievements, attend six meetings a month and be neat and spotlessly clean at all times," repeated three daily from birth, would have conditioned him.

We though we had it made. When the Cubs first reared their fuzzy little heads, the little boy rejected them like a jealous papa bear. Until one day.

We sent him to school a normal, freedom loving-boy—he returned brainwashed. Just who did this and how remains a mystery.

"I've decided to be a Cub Scout," he announced, grabbed a handful of cookies and went off the play.

DON'T FEEL YOU have to register him right away. If you procrastinate a few days you may miss the organizational meeting and the den will be full.

Helpful neighbors are usually in there pitching, though; mine called to say the meeting would be held that very evening.

Subtle approaches are no longer of any use. You might fight now, and fight hard. Of course, you'll lose, but keep struggling until you've been dragged to the car. When your husband starts the motor and puts the car in gear, it's time to give up. He may decide to roll you over a cliff.

Give attention to the costume you wear to the meeting. Make it a tight, low-cut dress, two layers of makeup and three-inch heels. Maybe the Cubmaster will decide you simply won't do as a den mother and he'll try to get your son under a better influence.

In which case. your troubles are over.

BE LATE AT the meeting. You'll find the room full of the bright, inquiring faces of innocent young mothers. It isn't your place to discourage them. But hiding in a dark corner, you'll see a woman who is a bit older, with a few fading scars. Watch her and do what she does—she has been through this before.

After listening to the lectures and paying her registration fee, she will disappear. The chances are you'll never see her again.

All through the meeting blow smoke in the Cubmaster's face and talk a lot about cocktail parties. Interrupt him whenever possible.

If all else fails, you'll find yourself a den mother or assistant for the next year or so. Then you have one alternative.

STUDY THE PILES of literature that will find their way into your mail box. Give up all outside activities. Buy a uniform for yourself and your son. Be the very best den mother you can be—you may even find you like it.

The year will pass and then you can say it's somebody else's turn. Your son will be proud of you and you'll be proud of yourself.

One last thing—don't have any more boys.

Women Voters Will Have Pot Luck Dinner

Members of the League of Women Voters of Concord-Diablo Valley will invite their husbands to a potluck dinner to be held at the Co-op, 1510 Geary Road, at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday.

Mrs. Sam Harris of Walnut Creek, who is in charge of the event, is assisted by Mesdames R. M. Alpen and M. K. Hearne, of Lafayette; Doris Lanning, of Pleasant Hill; and Robert McLane, of Concord.

Mrs. C. W. Funk of Danville, League president, has pointed out that the potluck will provide an opportunity for new and old members to become acquainted, since this event will be one of the few general meetings held during the year by the League.

Mrs. Funk explained that the members, who come from the entire central Contra Costa County area, attend a variety of unit meetings and committees each month, and do not have a chance to meet members outside their units except at the general meetings.

Entertainment for the evening will consist of a short film, entitled "Fighting Man's Ancient Enemies."

Members wishing further information about the dinner may call Mrs. Harris.

National Civil Defense Day Is Wednesday

Wednesday has been designated as National Civil Defense Day, according to Will H. Perry Jr., director of the Contra Costa County Disaster Office.

"Peace Through Preparedness" will be the theme for the day. Tied in with the 19th anniversary of the Pearl Harbor disaster, Civil Defense Day is a reminder of what happened then. It should spur all Americans into preparedness for other possible disasters.

Perry suggests that to be prepared, Contra Costa County residents should know and take action on five fundamentals before disaster strikes.

Know warning signals. A steady blast of three to five minutes means "attack" probable; take action as directed by local government." A wailing tone or short blasts for three minutes means "attack imminent—take cover immediately in best available shelter."

Know the community plan for emergency action.

Be prepared for protection against radioactive fallout. This means having a home shelter. The County Disaster Office has instructions for inexpensive shelters, free upon request. Have a two weeks' supply of food, water and other essential items and equipment on hand at all times.

Know first aid.

Know CONELRAD and have a battery-powered radio set. The CONELRAD station operating on 640 and 1240 on the standard radio will broadcast local emergency instructions.

Three Veeps Appointed By Safeway

Quentin Reynolds was elected a vice president of Safeway Stores, it was announced recently.

Reynolds is manager of the San Francisco retail operating division for the firm.

Reynolds, a native of San Rafael who has been with the firm for 37 years, has charge of 162 stores and Safeway's distribution center in Richmond. Food clerking with the company was his first job.

Directors also designed Henry B. Clay as a senior vice president and elected him to the board.

IT'S A DEEP SUBJECT

As of October 25, crews boring Lafayette Tunnel No. 2 had penetrated 1¼ miles and were working some 250 feet below the surface in the area of Cascade Lake, Orinda. Total length of the 9½-foot-diameter tunnel will be 3.2 miles.

Water Color Exhibit Now On Display

Paintings by students of Don Osterloh's water color class will go on display today at Contemporary Arts, 3455 Golden Gate Way, Lafayette.

The exhibit will be open to the public daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and until 9 p.m. on Fridays, through December 11.

Students of Osterloh who will have paintings in the exhibit are Marion Frank and Dorothea McCoy, Oakland; Aletta Hibbard, Orinda; Kathryn Holbrook, Berkeley; Patricia Corsa and Helen Mossman, Lafayette; Thelma Rogers, Concord; and Mildred Dawson, Martinez.

The winter series of classes in oil, water color, and mosaics will start the second week of January, according to Mrs. John Gilmour, chairman of these Valley Art Center classes.

If enough interest is shown, a new course in the fundamentals of composition and color will be held in the evenings.

Annual School Cost $62 Million

Educating and housing Contra Costa County's 108,000 public school children in 1959-60 was nearly a $62,000,000 operation, the annual financial report by the office of the county superintendent has disclosed.

Of the $61,945,328 expended, the largest single item was for teachers' salaries. They amounted to $31,752,175. Capital outlay totaled $14,090,002.

Expenditures for current operation by individual districts ran the gamut from $13,000 spent by the two-teacher Canyon School to $11,236,252 expended by Mt. Diablo Unified, the county's largest school district, which enrolls approximately one-quarter of the Contra Costa public school population.

Per pupil, current expenses averaged $358 in elementary schools, $531 in high schools, $437 in unified districts and $614 in the Contra Costa Junior College District.

These costs, said county Superintendent Floyd Marchus, varied considerably, depending on local conditions and practices. They ranged from $280 in the Pinole-Hercules Union District to $813 in the two-teacher Selby School, from $506 in the San Ramon Valley Union High School District to $691 in the John Swett Union High School District and from $401 in Mt. Diablo Unified to $517 and $543 in the other two unified districts, Antioch and Pittsburg, respectively.

The school dollar — for current expenses only — was distributed in somewhat different proportions at the different levels.

Elementary schools spent an average of 68 cents of their dollar for teachers' salaries, high schools and unified, 66 cents, and Contra Costa Junior College, 61 cents.

Administration required an average of 4 cents for elementary schools and the junior college and 3 cents for high schools and unified.

Elementary schools expended an average of .4 cents each on textbooks and other books—those in addition to the free texts supplied by the state. High school purchase of texts and other books averaged .7 cents and .3 cents, respectively, and unified districts, .5 and .6 cents. The junior college district expended .6 cents for other books.

Operation of school plant ran 9 or 10 cents at all levels and maintenance of plant from 2 to 5 cents. Fixed charges — insurances, etc. — were 3 to 4 cents and auxiliary services — school nurse programs, etc.—and transportation, 1 to 2 cents each.

Cancer Society Holiday Cards May Be Ordered

The Contra Costa Branch of the American Cancer Society has re-ordered to restore its diminished stock of Christmas cards for the benefit of those who have waited until now to take care of this holiday item.

Mrs. Helen Macfarlane, executive director of the society in Contra Costa, said today the attractive card will be available this week in quantities.

In view of the fact that postmasters advise mailing out-of-state cards by December 10, Mrs. Macfarlane urged that orders be placed immediately.

"This year upon request we can have the donor's name imprinted on the card when ordered in sufficient quantity, and this second printing takes extra time", the cancer society executive reminded.

The white card with red and green design, exclusive in Contra Costa county, may be mailed as a regulation postcard, Mrs. Macfarlane said.

"There is no price put upon the Christmas card, because we feel that persons interested in supporting the research, lifesaving cancer education and service to patients in this way, will contribute according to their own abilities", Mrs. Macfarlane said.

Picturing the cancer society's red sword of hope as a candle entwined with Christmas greens, the card bears the message: "A warm wish, a simple card, and a contribution to the American Cancer Society", along with "holiday greetings" from the sender.

Tiny Wasp May Assist County's Walnut Growers

Walnut trees in California may become safe from the dreaded Walnut Aphid, if University of California entomologists are correct.

They are bringing to the United States the tiny European Wasp, less than one-eighth of an inch long, also known as the Trioxys pallidus Haliday.

After seeing how the wasps operate in southern France, the entomologists brought them to California, and some 52,000 wasps are being reared in Riverside.

Last year, the wasps were turned loose in Contra Costa and two other counties, and they immediately attacked the aphids, scientists said.

The wasp penetrates the body of the aphid, lays its eggs inside and causes the aphid to mummify.

Air Field Road Is Completed

The Board of Supervisors has accepted as complete the contract with Martin Brothers of Concord for constructing an access road at Buchanan Field.

The half-mile long access road provides two 12-foot traffic lanes, with six-foot shoulders, to connect Concord Avenue with a proposed parking area near the new Control Tower and Utility Building.

Federal funds, administered by the Federal Aviation Agency, were used to partially finance the access road, which is a part of the Master Plan adopted by the Board of Supervisors for the development of Buchanan Field.

The total contract cost was $33,300.

New Leaders Named for Doll Group

Mrs. Mae Watkins of Lafayette, founder and longtime leader of "Dollies Inc." has resigned and the group, to be called simply "Dollies," will be directed by Mrs. Norman Perlmutter of Walnut Creek and Mrs. B. A. Pricer of Orinda.

Working through the Christmas Bureau, this group of volunteers rehabilitates and dresses used dolls in time for distribution to needy children at Christmas time.

CENTRALLY located storage space for "Dollies" has been secured through the generosity of R. E. De Tar of Suburban Shops in Lafayette behind the Lewis and Lewis Carpet Store.

Plans are being made for posters and displays of completed dolls and their new wardrobes to show what a group of volunteer workers is able to do with a few barrels of discarded dolls, a handful of scraps, some spare time and a little patience.

More new or easily repairable dolls are urgently needed as soon as possible to allow time for cleaning, repairing and dressing them before the fast approaching Christmas holidays arrive. More volunteers to dress these dolls are needed also.

COLLECTION barrels for "Dollies" are located at Loards Creamery in Orinda, Louis Store and Standard Station in Lafayette, the Volunteer Bureau in Walnut Creek and the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church. Stuffed dolls cannot be used because of health department regulations.

Christmas Rose Family Blooms in Cool Weather

Most people call them Christmas Roses, which makes "most people" only half or one-third correct. Actually, they are members of the Hellebore family, of which Christmas Rose is only one.

Whatever you call them, you will be doing the right thing by planting them in your garden. For when weather cools and many another plant goes out of bloom, the Hellebores are primed to start their seasonal show.

OF THE THREE most commonly offered by northern members of the California Association of Nurserymen, the first to show its blooms is Christmas Rose. Often in bloom by the holiday season, it sets its mass of blooms one to the stem, primarily in white or white with tints of purple.

Lenten Roses make their appearance after the first of the year and differ from their earlier cousins in that flowers are borne several to the stem in a wider range of colors. By no means are these the showy colors of summer annuals, but the gardener will be intrigued by the shades of white to purple, rose and maroon which come his way in a steady succession.

Most intriguing of all, perhaps, is the Corsican Hellebore, a shrubbier member of the family that produces arms of pale green flowers in late winter and early spring. As cut flowers, or on the plant, they will earn their share of comments from those who see them.

Christmas and Lenten Roses are shade lovers and made ideal companions to Camellias. Full grown at 12 to 18 inches, they will carpet an area of shade and offer their non-clashing, decidedly different blooms as a base from which Camellias can show off.

Corsican Hellebore is more tolerant of heat and stands sun in coastal areas. It shrubs up to three feet high and landscapers like its sharply cut foliage—artichoke-like in appearance—as a year round accent in borders and foundations.

Color Combines Are Important to Garden's Success

Some gardeners seem to feel that color of any kind is the aim of their endeavors. They are so entranced with actually bringing plants to bloom that they find nothing wrong with planting bright red zinnias at the base of a magenta bougainvillea. Or are they color blind?

If you ask a member of the California Association of Nurserymen, he'll tell you just how important it is to watch your color combinations. You'll see how right he is if you look around any neighborhood. The gardens that seem to have that something extra are gardens well planned as to color.

Check your own garden and see how it stacks up. Are the combinations those which you would buy in a painting? Are they combinations you would use in decorating your home? Do they clash, or are they, as the case may be, lacking in any contrast whatsoever?

In a summer garden, for instance, the fiery brands of Red Hot Poker are often evident.

Now take the annuals. How much more effective a bed of white stocks can be when used in conjunction with pink snapdragons with maybe a foreground of white alyssum. Violas in one color are seldom as appealing as they are when used with violas of another color. Try the white with blue or blue with yellow and see for yourself.

Now's the Time To Prepare for Bare-Root Roses

Here are items for the gardener to check this week:

Prepare ground for planting bare-root roses when they arrive on the market in a fortnight or so. Work manure and bonemeal into the soil. A little extra work now means better trees later.

If crab grass bothered you last summer (if you had it, it bothered you), check with your nurseryman about a control to apply now.

Layer manure in shrub beds and let the rains work it in. Work bonemeal and commercial soil conditioners into the soil, also.

Winter stocks need good drainage. Be sure you don't plant them in a garden low spot.

Feeding a lawn in late November does a lot toward keeping it green over the winter.

Your Garden

Experts Urge Restraint In Foundation Planting

Few areas of the home garden suffer more from misplanting than that which skirts the foundation of the house. Drive through any established neighborhood and you can see this for yourself. It's a rare block that doesn't have several homes half hidden by their foundation shrubbery.

There's nothing for this but to rip it out and start from scratch. Heavy pruning might work, but it's not a permanent cure. Such shrubs will only overgrow again and need more heavy pruning in time to come.

WHAT'S NEEDED is proper planning from the start. The California Association of Nurserymen has long urged restraint in foundation plantings.

The purpose, in case you wondered, is to ease the transition between house and garden—to tie each to the other in such a manner as to enhance both.

Look, then, to such modest growing shrubs as the India hawthornes, dwarf junipers and dwarf myrtle. Use azaleas freely in shaded foundations and mix them with camellias. Heavenly bamboo and lily-of-the-valley shrub make good companions.

We've seen attractive foundations of nothing but English ivy. However, such plantings can usually be improved with occasionally spaced taller shrubs. One of the taller junipers might be the answer.

WE'VE ALSO seen a clipped boxwood hedge as the sole foundation planting in front of one home. Such use would depend on just how formal you want to feel.

There are cases, we might add, where the need is actually for an overgrown planting. This would be on a steep slope where the gardener needs to hide the long, unbroken drop of wall on the down side. Such is not the need of most gardeners.

It it should be yours, however, you can easily fill this need by checking with your nearest C.A.N. nurseryman.

Toastmasters to Host Concordians

Larinda Chapter of Toastmasters International will hold a joint meeting with the Concord chapter at 7 p.m. Monday at Gimbo's in Rheem Center.

Toastmaster for the evening will be Forrest Bryant of Orinda. Speakers will be Dunc Duncan and William Hockheimer of Lafayette and Carter Miles of Walnut Creek.

DINAH MITE

"SOME RECOIL, HUH, EDDIE?"

Holly Ranches in State Are Among Nation's Best

You still find gardeners who insist that holly is not at its best in California, but don't you believe them. If some one tries to tell you as much, remind him that some of the nation's finest commercial holly ranches are in our state.

We suspect that there's a reason for those pessimistic claims. Perhaps the gardener grew an unfruitful seedling from his neighbor's garden (only the females have berries, providing a male plant is nearby). Perhaps he grew one of the rare varieties that actually bears no fruit. In such a large family, not all members can be perfect.

YOU CAN BE sure no such illluck will come your way when you bring holly home from the local C.A.N. nursery, however. The California Association of Nurserymen tells us that today's propagating practices insure fertile plants.

The very best answer to a holly pessimist comes from holly itself. You see one loaded with berries around Christmas time and envy the gardener who grows it. "If only I could cut a basketful of berries," you say.

The answer to that, of course, is to grow your own. Buy young plants in berry, enjoy their color during the coming weeks, then set them out and watch them grow in years to come. You'll be cutting all the wreaths you can make before long.

WE THINK of holly as being spiny as all get out, but one of the most popular varieties is Burford holly, which combines extra large berries with practically spineless leaves. It also bears heavier than normal crops.

English holly is the traditional ingredients of wreaths and mantel pieces. Its spiny, green leaves have been cut since time unknown for holiday decor. Last of the big three is Chinese holly, less spiny than English holly and more adapted to hot dry areas.

There are countless more. You'll find hollies that grow low, others that reach for the sky, still others with variegated leaves. You could fill a garden without planting the same variety twice.

Azaleas Now Bloom Early In the Fall

It's been said by many that California's fall is really just its second spring. And such is easy to believe when you see azaleas blooming rapidly from September on.

These shrubs are traditional fixtures of spring gardens, yet a visit with your neighborhood member of the California Association of Nurserymen this month will unveil more than a few varieties that are blooming now.

AND HAPPILY for all of us, most of them will continue to show color right up to spring. If a cold snap should cut them short, they'll start in again when weather warms.

There are exceptions to this rule, of course. Spring, in fact, is still the season for most of the family. But some of our most alluring azalea hybrids are fortunately found in the list of early bloomers. And these should be emphasized in fall and winter gardens as the gardener's taste dictates and as the available supply permits.

It is one of the nice things about modern horticulture that the azalea has become practically a bedding plant. Not that you shop for and plant it as you would a flat of pansies; but the day when azaleas were listed among the luxury plants is long gone. You can still use young plants for bedding if you like.

IF YOU BUY azaleas now — especially those in bloom — chances are you will keep them close to, or even in, the house and on display. This is well and good, but C.A.N. nurserymen warn that you must keep them well watered. Potted azaleas dry out considerably faster than those in the ground.
